Restraining Order Denied

Judge Edmund T. Nuss, dis-trict judge from Hastings, denied the restraining order of the Eastern Nebraska Public Power District against Frank Warden, tenant farmer.

The hearing in district court this week followed the filing of a petition in district court August 18 by the Power District for an injunction against the defendant to enjoin him from interfering with the plaintiff's construction of a transmission line across the property rented by Mr. Warden.

The company had explained that it has an easement to build the transmission lines across the property but that Warden will not permit company employees

At least three new features are slated to be added to the 1951 edition of the King Korn Karnival, according to the general approval provided by the committee heads as a general meeting held here Wednesday night.

Approved by the organization's officers and the general body present at the meeting, were authorization to hold a calf sale, approval of prizes in the Kiddies Parade, and a new twist on the coronation. Melvin Todd, calf show chair-

Korn Karnival Fund Raising Drive Starts

Henry Donat and Vic Schreiner, co-chairmen of the finance committee of the King Korn Karnival, disclosed today that an all out effort to enroll members in the organization is now underway.

And since the Korn Karnival can no longer make ex-penses through car raffles and similar money-raising projects, the financial success of the 1951 edition of the Korn Karnival will depend upon the assistance received from local and county residents.

Solicitors have begun the rounds of local business establishments, and are requesting cooperation from local citizens. Plattsmouth Band members will also sell memberships to the King Korn Karnival Association. Memberships also may be obtained from Harold Lebens, secretary of the group.

man, started the ball rolling with his suggestion that an auction be held Friday morning, September 21, of calves exhibited at the Karnival. His idea met with ready support from other committee heads and from the organization as a whole. The proposed calf sale, first to be held in connection with the Korn Karnival, will, according to present plans, be held at the scene of the calf exhibit. But just where that scene will take place is still a mystery. Comparing the prospects for the 1951 show with that of last year, Todd suggested that a larger location and a larger tent be provided. He said the 40 calves exhibited last year were overcrowded, and that a greater number is expected this year. Two possible locations are being considered and a larger tent is being provided.

Todd also named a committee that will help him with the show. They are Clarence Schmadeke, county agent, Howard Philpot, Leonard Born and Robert Jameson.

Mrs. Esther Donat c a m e through with one of the other new ideas to be incorporated in the 1951 Karnival. Commenting that everyone is interested in the Kiddies' Parade, Mrs. Do-
