 John Wesley's mother once wrote to her son when he was away at college: "Whatever weakens your reason, impairs the tenderness of your conscience, obscures your sense of God, or takes off the relish of spiritual things—that thing is an enemy for you, however innocent it may be in itself."
 "Abstain from all appearance of evil. And the very God of peace sanctify you wholly."
 I Thes. 5:22-23.

ATHLETES FOOT GERM HOW TO KILL IT IN ONE HOUR.
 If not pleased, your back has a "strong" fungus. It is a disease that causes itching and redness. It is caused by a germ that lives on the skin. It is not contagious. It is not a disease. It is a germ. It is not a disease. It is a germ. It is not a disease. It is a germ.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
 "Life" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, July 20, 1952.

The Golden Text is: "I will give unto him that is athirst of the fountain of the water of life freely. He that overcometh shall inherit all things; and I will be his God, and he shall be my son." (Revelation 21:6, 7). Other Bible citations include, "How excellent is thy loving-kindness, O God! therefore the children of men put their trust under the shadow of thy wings. They shall be abundantly satisfied with the fatness of thy house; and thou shalt make them drink of the river of thy pleasures. For with thee is the fountain of life: in thy light shall we see light. O continue thy loving-kindness unto them that know thee, and thy righteousness to the upright in heart." (Psalms 36:7-10).
 The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. Because Life is God, Life must be eternal, self-existent. Life is the everlasting I AM, the Being who was and is and shall be, whom nothing can erase."

Bible Comment: Ruin Awaits Those Who Would Depart From Wisdom's Path

It is one thing to praise wisdom, but quite another thing to practice it. And the most unwise thing that can happen is to abandon wisdom once you have found it. This is forcibly illustrated in the history of King Solomon, reputedly the author of the Book of Proverbs, and reputedly "the wisest man who ever lived."
 At least two great and noble incidents are recorded of Solomon. In the first, he was asked to choose between two women, each claiming to be the mother of a child. Solomon ordered the women to bring their children to him, and he cut the child in two, giving half to each. The true mother, recognizing the king's wisdom, gave up her claim.
 The second incident was the dream recorded in 1 Kings 3:5-12, in which, asked to choose whatever he desired from the Lord, he spoke in deep humility and asked, above all things, for an understanding heart to exercise good judgment and rule his people well.
 The other outstanding incident was his prayer at the dedication of the Temple. Perhaps, like some addresses of other kings and rulers, it was written for him by some religious leader of saintly spirit and prophetic insight. But by delivering it Solomon made it his own, and if he had continued in the letter and spirit of that prayer he might have gone down in history as famous for his goodness and wisdom as he is for the outward splendor of his reign.
 Instead Solomon took to himself many wives. Not content with the building of the Temple, he built for himself, in a great palace he surrounded himself with riches and luxury for which the people paid in oppressive taxes. Bearing it all while Solomon lived, they rebelled when his son Rehoboam succeeded him.
 Solomon in the early part of his reign stands as a fine example and an exhortation to wisdom. But in the latter part he stands as a solemn warning of what happens to a man, even a great one, when he departs from wisdom.

 Notice—Special meeting of the congregation will be held at 11 a. m. on Sunday, July 27, 1952. This meeting has been called by the session at the request of the pulpit committee to receive and take action on the committee's report.

Dead and badly diseased canes should be pruned out and destroyed during the dormant season. If the disease is bad in the raspberries this year, you should spray early next year with lime-sulfur.

The drier season in 1952 is favorable for Red Spider mites. It may pay to check your evergreens. They also may infest some rose plants and phlox. One recommended spray is two level tablespoons of wettable sulfur to a quart of water applied 3 times at one week intervals.

Roteneone dust is the best way to control cucumber beetles in the garden.

Insects, even get "off limits." Garden webworms so frequently found last year in alfalfa have built badly some late planted corn this summer. They also like weeds to eat, but since corn fields are clean this year, they are working on the corn plants. Another misfit is the common stock borer, which likes corn and stony weeds, was reported raising a rumpus with potato vines. An analysis of this situation is this: An abundance of weeds in 1951, due to the wet season, allowed a heavy population of those pests to build up. A shorter crop of weeds in 1952 drove them to feed on agricultural crops.

Pigs don't need lights! A recent study revealed that artificial lights are not needed for pigs. With self-feeders lighted all night, the pigs ate no more, gained no more and no faster than the pigs in the natural daylight and darkness. Conclusions: a hungry pig eats whether its dark or light!

4-H camp dates for Cass county are August 11, 12, 13 at Camp Harriet Harding, west of Louisville. A larger attendance is anticipated this year than in 1951, which was the first county camp held. Swimming instructions will be given major emphasis again.

Just a reminder that the Farm Tractor Field Day at Lincoln is July 24 and that a dairy field day also at the Ag. College is scheduled for July 31.

Green and Yellow Vegetables
 A green or yellow vegetable is attractive on the plate. It is also a good source of a form of Vitamin A known as carotene and supplies other vitamins and some minerals as well. The pair of white vegetable supply little carotenes but often supply other vitamins in larger amounts. Cabbage, for example, will supply more Vitamin C than some of green and yellow vegetables but considerable less carotene.

Not everyone needs the same amount of Vitamin A each day, but with a serving of a dark-green leafy vegetable or a yellow vegetable or yellow fruit, one can feel reasonably sure that the amount needed will be supplied.

Is Vitamin A destroyed by cooking, canning, and storing? Not easily. Long drying or high frying temperatures may cause some loss of Vitamin A in vegetables, but it is one of the more stable vitamins. It is not water soluble, so little is lost in the cooking water. The other vitamins can be lost, however, if the water in which a vegetable is cooked or canned is not used.

Several reports of affected apple and pear trees have been received. The trouble has been due to "Fire Blight," a bacterial disease. The blossom blight form killed many blossoming spurs on Dutchess and wealthy apples and the twig blight now has killed back the shoots on many trees. The experts tell us that there is nothing can be done about the disease now. However, it is recommended that the infected parts be pruned out this fall.

Illinois 250 mines are only 3% of the national total, but they produce 11% of America's bituminous coal.
