

Grauf's 5th Win Is No-Hit Effort

Joe Grauf made his fifth win of the Midget Baseball League a big one Wednesday by hurling a no-hit game as Cass Drug shipped Soennichsen's to stretch his lead to one full game over State Bank, out of action for the past couple weeks.

The lone run scored by the grocers came with one down in the second. B. French scored on Catcher Denny Hirz's wild throw to third after he had walked and stolen second and third.

Grauf whiffed nine Grocers and walked four in his five-inning no-hit job. He was never in trouble after the second inning.

Meanwhile Third Baseman Wilson got the Druggists off to an early lead with a home run as the first man up in the first inning. His mates continued the onslaught against Larry Long, Soennichsen hurler, as Taylor doubled, Nelson singled, Grauf drew a walk and all romped home on Meisinger's safety.

Grauf got the only other hit with a double in the third inning.

Long walked one and struck out four in suffering his first loss.

Grauf's no-hit game was the third in league play this summer. Danny Archer registered the first no-hitter and Denny Hirz duplicated the feat last week. Hirz also hurled for Cass Drug. Archer is mound ace for Western Shoe Store.

Don Bell Seeks Golf Tournament Honors At Denver

Don Bell, son-in-law of Mr. and Mrs. Walt Soennichsen, is still an entry in the Trans-Mississippi gold tournament at Denver this week. He and Mrs. Bell, the former Mary Phyllis Soennichsen, have been at Denver for the past two weeks where they are guests of his parents, while Mr. Bell is entered in the tourney.

Mr. Bell's father has been a professional golfer at Lakeland Club at Denver for several years.

Few Applications For Deer Hunting Permits Filed

Major interest of Nebraska sportsmen apparently rests with fishing—for the time being anyway—as applications for 1952 special deer permits continue to lag behind the pace set one year ago.

The latest Game Commission tabulation of applications shows 45 for doe permits and 45 for buck permits. A total of 1,500 permits will be issued for the hunting of bucks and 1,000 for the taking of does.

Lloyd Vance, supervisor of game, commented that the number of applications would be considerably higher at this time had a large number been returned to the applicants. "The reason for this," Vance said, "is that the applications were received incomplete."

All applications must be made on the official application cards—available from county clerks' offices, district conservation officers and the Lincoln office of the Game Commission—and must be complete. On Wednesday of last week, 24 applications were received and 12 were rejected and returned because they lacked all of the necessary information.

Information required on the applications consist of complete name of applicant, his complete address, color hair, eyes, height, age, sex, weight, race occupation and whether he is applying for a buck or doe permit.

Deadline for all applications is August 31.

Soldier Dedicates Poem To "Women Behind The Men"

Pvt. Eldon L. Kammerer, serving on the front lines in Korea, has a good idea of the part women play in wartime. Serving with the 13th Engineer Company of the 7th division in Korea, he penned a poem which he believes represents the woman's dramatic role when her loved one is called to the colors.

Entitled "Loving a Soldier," the poem was recently received here by his mother, Mrs. Orval Kammerer. She points out that many of the poetic expressions are her true feelings for her son in Korea.

Pvt. Kammerer has been in service since December and has been on the front lines for over a month. His address is Pvt. E2 Eldon L. Kammerer, US 55-208-297, Co. 13 Engineer C. Bn., APO 7, Postmaster, San Francisco, California.

In his ten-verse poetic accomplishment, Pvt. Kammerer notes that loving a soldier is "mostly having, not to hold." The letter, phone call, tears of goodbye are also paraphrased in the poem, in which he recognizes that "you're tired, you're weary, you're doing your share; you're helping your soldier to win over there."

But he points out that while "loving a soldier is really no fun, it's worth the price when the battle is won."

Fishing Generally Poor Throughout Entire State

A few scattered waters of the state—bucking hot weather, dropping water level, growth of moss and loss of anglers because of harvest—provided fair to good fishing according to weekly fishing reports received at the Nebraska Game Commission.

Fishing in general, however, was unproductive. Most species of fish were relatively inactive as were fishermen who temporarily bypassed angling during the terrific heat.

A few quotes from some of the "weekend" reports present a clear picture of Nebraska fishing: "Maloney and Sutherland reservoirs very low."

"Fishing slow during week, probably due to harvest and not humid weather."

"Weather hot and dry. Loup rivers are low."

"Fishing has hit seasonal low in all waters. Platte and Elkhorn rivers are at lowest water level for month of July in past several years."

"Hot weather has hurt fishing and just about stopped the fishermen from going out in the daytime."

"Mass getting bad in nearly all sand hills lakes."

One exception was the Dodge, Colfax, Butler and Saunders counties district where Warden V. B. Woodgate reported good fishing. Anglers were having fair luck for catfish in the Platte river, fair success for both catfish and carp in good luck for bluegill in the Elkhorn and producing fishing for bullheads in both the Fremont and Dead Timber State lakes.

Catfish and carp were hitting good in Maloney, Sutherland and Jeffrey Canyon reservoirs. Lake Ericson and the Johnson, Neb., lake anglers kept busy as carp were quite active.

The Game Commission's new Hull lake which opened in July turned out some good bluegills. Fishing for both black bass and crappie was fair in that same lake.

Coach Carl Halth's Junior Legion outfit was rained out in its scheduled appearance at Ashland Sunday and thus holds its undated record in fact. The Blue Devils have won five league contests without defeat.

Meanwhile Plattsmouth Midgets were rained out in their scheduled opener Sunday.

Defense Bond Sales in County In June $24,812

Defense Bond sales in Cass county for June were $24,812.50, announced today by Walter H. Smith, county chairman of the Savings Bonds Committee. It was announced at the same time by Leland R. Hall, State Director of the Savings Bonds Division, that sales for Nebraska amounted to $5,356,598.10, an increase of 27% over the same month of last year. The improved Series "E" and the new Series "H" Bonds represent 73.7% of the total sales.

"Total bond sales for the first half of this year are now 154% for the maturities and redemptions for the same period," Hall said. "And with 'E' Bonds sales greater than a year ago Nebraskans continue to increase their reserves in the most popular security ever offered." Hall concluded.

"The raise in the interest rates of all Defense Bonds is undoubtedly a large factor in the splendid improvement of the sales reports," Hall concluded.

New Gymnasium Being Built At Alvo School

Construction on the new addition to the Alvo high school building has started, according to Donald Rieckman, secretary of the board of education.

Rieckman disclosed today that construction started almost immediately after the board accepted the bid of Mead Lumber Company.

Mead's bid of $9,281.89 was lowest of three bids submitted to the board. Other bids received by the board were Eagle Lumber and Hardware Company of Eagle, $9,611.67; and T. W. Engles Lumber Company of Elmwood, $9,674.96.

Materials are for construction of a new gymnasium at the Cass county school. Alvo sports picture looms brighter with construction of the new gymnasium underway, despite the nearly 100 per cent showing of their athletic teams during the past school year.

Under the tutoring of Coach Oliver Mayfield, Alvo rolled to an undefeated six-man football season, bowing to Lincoln Cathedral in the apple bowl, and took the district basketball championship.

Pheasant Broods Larger This Year

It appears that the 1952 hatching of pheasants in Nebraska is earlier than last year. This comment made by Biologist Levi Mohler of the Nebraska Game Commission is based on pheasant brood observations as reported by conservation officers.

The observation reports to date also indicate that hatching is reaching its peak earlier than a year ago and that broods are slightly larger.

First reported brood was seen on May 17. More than one hundred have since been observed. The number of young per brood seen this year averages 7.17, compared to 6.5 last year.

Ratenone dust is the best way to control cucumber beetles in the garden, according to University of Nebraska entomologists.

They say that DDT is not safe to use on cucumbers and closely-related plants.

Ratenone dust, however, will get the beetles. First application should be made when the plants break through the ground and it should be repeated at weekly intervals for five or six weeks. Enough should be used to whiten the soil around the plant because beetles lay eggs. The beetles' larvae burrow into the stem and root.

Another effective control is a 3 to 5 per cent Methoxychlor dust, according to the entomologists.
