

Wosters Sweep Twin-Bill From Grocers 2-1, 15-6

Woster's Shoe Store swept a double header in Midget League action Friday from Soennichsen's, 2-0 and 15-6.

The first game was called midway through the third inning with the score reading 9-1. As a result the scored reverted back to the second inning with the count at 2-0.

Wosters scored twice in the first inning on two hits with Wilson and Beverage scoring.

In the second game, Wosters scored at least three runs in each of the four innings as they backed Cundall's hurling. Soennichsen took a one-run lead in the first only to have the Shoefitters come up with four hits and a three run rally. Wosters added three more in the second, five in the third and four in the fourth, while Soennichsen's picked up one in the third and one in the fourth.

Wildness kept Cundall in trouble in each of the innings. But Soennichsen's were only

Woster Blast 16-1 Win Over First Christian Church

Woster Shoe Store added a third win to its league record this week by wallpopping First Christian church, 16-1 behind the three-hit pitching of Danny Archer.

The Shoefitters rolled up six big runs in the first inning and were never in danger. They added four in the second, three in the third and two in the fourth. Archer also gunned the attack with three hits in three trips as did Kellison who batted 3 for 3.

The Preachers scored their lone run in the fifth as Smith made it around. Thirteen batters whiffed for the church team.

RECOMMENDED BY THE NATIONAL FOUNDATION FOR INFANTILE PARALYSIS

Seven-year-old Karen Blecha enacts 1952 polio precautions recommended by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. When polio is around, the National Foundation cautions parents to watch for these signs: headache, fever, sore throat, upset stomach, tenderness and stiffness of neck and back. A person showing such symptoms should be put to bed at once, away from others. Then, call your doctor and follow his advice. If polio is diagnosed, call your local chapter of the March of Dimes for advice and assistance, including needed financial help.

First Game Jitters Mark Midget's Opener Friday

First game jitters and a good Riverton, Iowa, team combined forces Friday afternoon to trip the Plattsmouth Midget Baseball team in its first inter-city league game. Riverton capitalized on Plattsmouth bobbles to take a 9-2 win.

The Hawkeys declared their intentions early with three runs in the first inning. They added three more in each of the second and fourth frames before Plattsmouth could score.

Plattsmouth subs led to the two lone runs registered by the invaders. Danny Archer, sub right fielder, led off the fifth with a base on balls, he moved to second as Wilson was struck by a pitched ball and both advanced on a wild pitch. Archer was thrown out at the plate attempting to steal home with Wilson going to third as Catcher Eugene Dasher walked. Denny Hirz singled to bring in Wilson with Dasher moving to second. Larry Cundall's single brought Dasher home.

Plattsmouth put men on in each inning except the third but poor base running, and general ineffectiveness at the plate killed most threats.

Meanwhile support behind Stuart Nielsen's southpaw slants was costly. Stuart walked and struck out 2 and allowed only four hits. He struck out four men in the second inning when Reno dropped a third strike and threw too late to catch the runner.

A return game with the Iowans is slated to be played here next Sunday.

Heated, Air Drying Temperatures Affect Corn

Drying corn with heated air at temperatures above 140 degrees Fahrenheit will cut down the grain's nutritive value, according to experiments at the University of Nebraska.

I. L. Hathaway, F. D. Yung and Dr. T. A. Kieselbach, researchers in dairy, agricultural engineering and agronomy respectively, have compiled results of their investigations in a bulletin, just off the press.

In the experiments mature ear corn was reduced in kernel moisture from 27 per cent or more to a safe storage content of about 14 per cent. Heated air was used with a forced draft at temperatures ranging from 240 to 120 degrees.

The market grade of corn was not affected by drying temperatures up to 180 degrees. Drying at 200 and 240 degrees in one year, however, lowered the grade to four and five respectively because of heat damage. In two other years, 1947 and 1948, a 240-degree temperature lowered the grade to sample and grade four as a result of heat damage.

Drying at seven different temperatures ranging from 80 to 240 degrees did not affect the various feed constituents of the corn materially. The nutritive value of the protein, however, was cut at 160 degrees or more. Rats fed on the corn had a reduction of 18 to 32 per cent in weight gain in eight weeks.

The higher temperatures also reduced the amount of feed consumed, an average of 5 per cent under that of a check lot of corn dried naturally at 80 degrees. There was a corresponding reduction of 18 per cent in the amount of gain per unit of feed consumed.

When corn dried at various temperatures was tested as a source of energy in special rations fed to rats, its energy value was significantly reduced by 140 degrees or higher temperatures.

The researchers concluded that drying of corn by overheating lowers its market grade and impairs its milling quality in addition to cutting its intrinsic value.

Fall Gardens Are Good Idea

You can get ahead with fall gardens in Nebraska if you plant your vegetables during the next week or so, according to horticulturists at the University of Nebraska.

You can fill in the blank spaces with this crop in your garden where you harvested summer vegetables. The horticulturists say that tomatoes in central and western Nebraska should plant their vegetable gardens fall right away to be ready at the crop. Eastern westerners should wait a week or two before are some of the vegetables and the latest recommended dates for planting:

Beans (green or wax) — cabbage (seed), carrots, cauliflower (seed), broccoli (plants) and kohlrabi — July 15.

Leaf lettuce, head lettuce (plants) — Aug. 1. (Chinese cabbage should not be planted before Aug. 1 when seed is used.) Spinach, turnips — Aug. 15. Radishes — Sept. 1.

For details on fall gardens you may obtain Extension Circular 1274, "Garden Vegetables," from the offices of county extension agents.
