

Fun, Business To Keynote Karnival Booster Trips

A special appeal is made to Plattsmouth business men to participate in a series of booster trips for the King Korn Karnival. First of the trips will be held on Wednesday afternoon, August 27.

Walt Sikora and Hugh Stand-er, Jr., co-chairmen of the booster trip committee, today announced tentative plans for a series of trips throughout Cass county, parts of Sarpy county and even in Iowa.

Sikora pointed out that success of the trips will depend a lot upon the cooperation of businessmen in assuming their rightful roles as "King Korn Karnival Boosters." As boosters, merchants here can do much to further interest in the Korn Karnival and at the same time become more acquainted in their retail area.

The booster trips promise to be designed for fun as well as for business-like activities. The fun will be furnished by a costumed caravan. Decorations, noise makers and odd and interesting costumes are scheduled as an important part of the trips. Further arrangements on final details will be announced prior to the first trip.

Sikora pointed out that Murray, Union, Nehawka, Weeping Water and Louisville are scheduled on the first trip, Wednesday, August 27. The caravan will form at Stander Implement Company location on 3rd avenue and will begin the trip at one o'clock. Lengthy stops in each community are planned.

Sikora said that an evening booster trip is planned to Glenwood on the 29th, and a second afternoon caravan will hit Pappillon, Springfield and Bellevue in Sarpy county on September 3. A tour of western Cass county will probably be held the following week.

On the booster trip, "boosters" will distribute hand bills, display cards and car stickers advertising the King Korn Karnival on September 17, 18 and 19. Boosters will also sell the novel Korn Karnival ties and head scarfs while on tour.

Plumbers Are Awarded Contract

Stewart said today that cards so that they may be completed when the boys report to check out equipment on Tuesday.

Stewart Attends Coaches Clinic At Nebraska U.

After receiving the expert's word at the University of Nebraska coaches school, Coach Merle Stewart is more anxious than ever for the 1952 grid season to get underway.

He won't have long to wait. Candidates will begin checking out equipment at the high school athletic department at nine o'clock Tuesday, August 19. Lettermen are slated to pick up gear at 9:30 while other candidates will check out at ten o'clock.

At the coaches clinic early this week, Stewart had a chance to compare notes on the T-formation with Coaches Ray Elliott of Illinois and Nebraska's Bill Glassford. Stewart plans to mix the T and single-wing formations somewhat like was witnessed here a year ago.

Announcement was officially confirmed this week also, that Gerald Clayburn, ex-assistant coach here will be back to assume his former duties. Clayburn was recalled to active duty in March 1950 during spring sports activities and received his discharge in June.

The Plattsmouth board of education Monday night approved Clayburn's contract for the coming school year. He'll teach manual arts and aid Stewart with athletics. Eugene Shields will also be back to assist Stewart.

Rotarians Hear Activities Of Cattle Industry

"God's Own Cow Country," appeared more realistic to Plattsmouth Rotarians today following a description of activities in northwestern Nebraska by Searl S. Davis, program chairman at the Rotary session Tuesday.

Davis' account of his visit in that region a few weeks ago brought to mind numerous activities that take place in Nebraska's cattle region that normally aren't well known in other sections. Searl and Stephen Davis attended meetings of the Farm Managers Association at Valentine several weeks ago.

Highlighting the trip briefly, Davis told of visiting the many large ranches in the Valentine area, and also told of witnessing branding, vaccinating and other activities associated with the large herds. Visits to the national park where herds of buffalo were viewed also interested the farm managers.

Outlining the general purposes of Farm Managers, Davis explained that advancements in agricultural practices make it necessary for farm managers to be completely familiar with conservation practices, hybrid seeds, land values, all types of buildings, animals and machinery.

The group was feted by the Sandhills Cattle Association, University of Nebraska and the Chamber of Commerce at Valentine. It is a member of the American Society of Farm Managers and Rural Appraisers.

Other highlights at the Tuesday session included announcement that the Mynard Community picnic will be held next Tuesday. Rotarians are again urged to attend.

John A. Williams, Presbyterian minister at Nebraska City, was a visiting Rotarian.

Players, Scorebook Disagree; Win Goes To Druggists

Captain Stuart Nielsen of Cass Drug midgets baseball team, the scorebook, and players for the Druggists and Plattsmouth State Bank are trying to figure out who won last week's league game.

Players contend that the Druggists won the affair 5-4 in six innings. The scorebook gives the win to the Bankers by a score of 4-3.

Young Nielsen shook his head when he viewed tabulations in the score book. There weren't that many runs shown. But officially the win will go to the Druggists, since players generally agree they earned the victory.

Vacant Lot Is Transformed Into Hub Of Activity

MURRAY (Special)—Occasionally when one stops to appreciate his immediate surroundings, he finds that something very pleasant is taking place.

That appears apparent at Murray where a project, conceived and launched by several citizens of the community, has developed into one of the community's most worthy assets.

It refers, of course, to a piece of ground which for some time had been idle, but which is now producing a bumper crop of enjoyment for young and old alike. The land is now a park where children gather to play.

Younger children can be found playing on the swings, Jungle Jim, slippery slides and see-saw. And not far away, their fathers or even their grandfathers, may be pitching horse shoe, while in another corner of the park older children are interested in a softball game.

Murray residents agree that no record may be set here compared to other parks, but the outlook on producing enjoyable days is not being measured in busnels per acre, only in enjoyment, and in witnessing the results of their own efforts.

Journal Want Ads Pay!

Cass Assessor Denied Pay Hike

The Cass county assessor cannot have an immediate increase in salary. That was the ruling of Attorney General C. S. Beck Wednesday.

Beck ruled that the new salary cannot become effective until the beginning of the new term of office in January 1954.

At the beginning of 1951 the county board determined the population of Cass county to be in excess of 16,500 putting the county up a notch in salary classifications and making the assessor's pay $2,700. Later the 1951 Legislature amended the law to make the salary of the Assessor in counties of Class 4A $3,700 a year.

Since Willard McShane was appointed in 1951 following the death of W. H. Puls, County Attorney Richard Peck had asked when the new salary would become effective.

Shirley Strough entered St. Joseph hospital for an appendectomy Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Mott Frady, Clifford and Laleta of Spokane, Wash., have been guests at the home of Mrs. Virie Frady and John.
