Legislative SIDELIGHTS..

by BERNIE CAMP
Information Director
Nebraska Farm Bureau

(Legislative Sidelights is made available to your local newspaper as a service of the Nebraska Farm Bureau Federation. Opinions expressed are not necessarily those of this newspaper.)
Parking Meter Revenue
Parking meters are big business in America these days, with an annual income of more than $50 million for city governments. Ninety per cent of the nation's cities of more than 50,000 population have such meters.
More than a million meters are in operation in some 2,500 cities, from Brownsville, Texas, to Fairbanks, Alaska. When a city decides to install parking meters, chances are that they deal with one of six major manufacturers who agree to put the meters in on a six-month trial basis. Although there are a few minor manufacturers, the majority of the business is done with the big companies. Meters retail for an average of $90 to $75 each, and the manufacturer agrees if the city decides not to keep the meters to remove them and repair the sidewalks where they were installed. Few cities, however, decide not to retain them. Meters are paid for out of revenues, with the manufacturer receiving 50 per cent of the revenue until the purchase price is paid.
The parking meter was devised as a means of forcing turn-over in parking in retail areas of towns and cities. In this objective they have been highly successful. Once in many cities all-day parking of cars belonging to persons employed in the retail area greatly curtailed the space available for customers. Today, where meters are in operation all day parking is largely eliminated.
In many cities, however, the original purpose has been largely obscured in the scramble to install more and more meters, not to solve the parking problem, but as a readily available and certain source of income for city governments. In many rural areas, county seat and other large towns, communities which cannot plainly have a very serious parking problem, continue to install parking meters; the only conclusion to be drawn from such installations is that they are for revenue purposes only.
No one can know exactly how much revenue Nebraska towns and cities realize from parking meters annually without a careful survey of all localities with such installations. However, an uncompleted survey made for this column shows that in 12 of the large cities of Nebraska (Omaha, Lincoln, Kearney, Falls City, Columbus, North Platte, McCook, Grand Island, Hastings, Fremont, Scottsbluff and Norfolk) a total of at least $60,000 was realized from parking meters in 1951. These same towns had a total installation of approximately 7,850 meters. This is an average income of approximately $84 a meter.
In many of the cities surveyed the revenue goes into police funds, city general funds, city water funds, funds to pay for maintenance and collection from the meters, city paving funds, funds to pay for the meters, for traffic improvement and traffic lights, and a variety of other general uses.
Revenues from parking meters fill all the requirements for classification as a highway user tax, since only those persons who drive and own automobiles pay the tax. Therefore, it would seem reasonable to assume it is diversion to use parking meter revenue for any other purpose than for meter maintenance and collection, to pay for the

NICKEL FROM CANADA
Canadian producers of nickel in 1951 were responsible for approximately 275,000,000 pounds of nickel production, or more than 90 per cent of the free world's total.
THIEF DESCRIBES SELF
WISNER, Neb.—The burglar, who visited the Hansen Cleaners, left a pretty fair description of himself. He took trousers, sizes 30 and 31; shirts, sizes 15, and caps, size 7 1-8.
LIVING ON NICKEL
Practically all residents of the Sudbury mining area in Northern Ontario, about 70,000, derive their living directly or indirectly from nickel.
Production of bituminous coal for 1951 was more than 30% higher than for the prewar 1935-1939 average.
