Bible Comment:

Intolerance Should Find No Advocate In Bible Dispute

In the King James version of the Bible the Epistle to the Hebrews is attributed to Paul, but from early days in the church there has been much questioning regarding its authorship.

But one fact concerning the Pauline Epistles, those by James, Peter and John, which Paul certainly did not write, and the Epistle to the Hebrews, is that they are all agreed in a common faith in Jesus as the Messiah, in belief in his saving power, and in their conception of the Christian life.

James, for instance, emphasizes works as evidence of faith, where Paul puts more emphasis on faith, but in Paul's more extensive writings we would find many passages that, as strongly as James, stress the practical nature of Christian life. So, also, though John is the apostle of brotherly love, all that he says only strengthens what Paul wrote of love in I Corinthians 13. And when Peter writes of believers as "partakers of the divine nature," it is precisely what Paul has written in Ephesians 3:19.

This unity is emphasized in the conception of God's better revelation in Jesus, as presented by the writer of Hebrews, and as presented by Paul. Both are intense in their conviction that Jesus is the fulfillment of the Messianic hope. But Paul is chiefly concerned with doctrine, while the writer of Hebrews emphasizes the priestly character of Jesus, and the fulfillment of the ritualistic side of the Old Testament heritage.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
"Reality" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, September 28, 1952.
The Golden Text is: "Thine O Lord, is the greatness, and the power, and the glory, and the victory, and the majesty; for all that is in the heaven, and in the earth is thine; thine is the Kingdom, O Lord, and thou art exalted as head above all." (I Chronicles 29:11). Other Bible citations include: "Therefore, my brethren dearly beloved and longed for, my joy and crown, so stand fast in the Lord, my dearly beloved. And the peace of God, which passeth all understanding, shall keep your hearts and minds through Christ Jesus." (Philippians 4:1, 7).

The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "God fashions all things, after His own likeness. Life is reflected in existence, Truth in truthfulness, God in goodness, which impart their own peace and permanence." (Page 516).
