CHRISTIAN SCIENCE SERVICES
"Are Sin, Disease, and Death Real?" is the subject of the Lesson-Sermon which will be read in Christian Science churches throughout the world on Sunday, October 12, 1952.

forgiveth all thine iniquities; who healeth all thy diseases; who redeemeth thy life from destruction." (Psalms 103:2-4). Other Bible citations include: "Make thy face to shine upon thy servant: save me for thy mercies' sake. Oh how great is thy goodness, which thou hast laid up for them that fear thee; which thou hast wrought for them that trust in thee before the sons of men!" (Psalms 31:16, 19).
The Lesson-Sermon also includes the following passage from the Christian Science textbook, "Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "All reality is in God and His creation, harmonious and eternal. That which He creates is good, and He makes all that is made. Therefore the only reality of sin, sickness or death is the awful fact that unrealities seem real to human, erring belief, until God strips off their disguise. They are not true, because they are not of God." (Page 472).

Bible Comment:
Call to Right Living Is Available Today In Daniel's Example
MUCH is being said these days in many circles about corruption. Apparently many people believe corrupt influences have crept into our high places where the trust of the people is sacred. There is a definite need at the present time for a re-assertion of the standards of right living. The best example standing through the ages is the prophet Daniel. He is held up as an example of moral courage, a man with right-living standards.
But it is one thing to assert and define these standards and another to induce men to follow them. Often a man is not infected with depravity when he is attracted to the allurements of self-interest. To the contrary, the call of self-interest urges men to run roughshod over others, completely ignoring their rights and interests and only considering his own. Also, false standards of conduct which are found to be widely accepted in practice, policy and precept today help increase the amount of evil trends active in the world.
Therefore the resolve for right living must be insistent, forceful and persistent. Daniel and his companions dared to stand against the lure of a false, corrupting social atmosphere. They recognized and resisted the dangers of bowing to evil forces. Instead they chose to follow the dictates of their consciences and accept only the standards of right living.
The greatest problem confronting the church today is that of making "right living" attractive to those who do not feel any compulsion to follow these principles. How can this be done?
Often it appears the churches have grown a little complacent and are content to live within their sphere, ignoring the masses outside.
But we must remember. The Christian Church was founded on the basic principle of evangelism. John explaining the winning of a convert: "He brought him to Jesus."
Those who followed the Master brought outsiders into the Christian fellowship. We need more of this spirit today. The practice of seeking out others and bringing them to Jesus might be the answer to a difficult question.
