OTE "FOR" THE AMENDMENTS

oring the passage of all six proposed state amendments that will appear on your ballot Tuesday. All should be passed-even the amendment that will deprive this newspaper of revenue by decreasing from four to three the number of times a proposed constitutional amendment must be published in newspapers of the state.

Most any citizen will see the publication just as well if it appears three times as they will by printing it four issues and it will save the state some money. We do not encourage a let-down in the publication of legal notices. These publications are vital to our democratic way of life and a guarantee of honesty and integrity of good government-every publie official handling tax funds should be held to a strict accounting through publication of receipts and disbursements, but we can see no good reason to publish proposed amendments more than three times.

Most important of all proposed amendments would permit the closing of loopholes in our present method of taxing motor vehicles. Under the present system, a new car can be registered on March 11, 1952. On January 1, 1953, he can secure a new license without payment of tax. If he leaves the state during 1953, he can secure a new license in most states without showing a Nebraska tax receipt - a period of nearly 21 months driving on Nebraska highways without paying automobile tax along with all the rest of us.

Cass County, according to records, has thousands of dollars in past due motor vehicle tax money on the books for which distress warrants have been issued. They are impossible to collect-the owners have departed the state and every governmental subdivision is the loser, schools, county, cities, state and others. Every tax dollar counts these days and these unpaid taxes mean that your mill levy must be higher to make up for it. Passage of this amendment is a must.

Two of the remaining four proposed amendments only clear up and make present legislation more sensible. One, for instance, equalizes the salaries of members of courts, boards and commissions. In recent years, the legislature has raised some salaries but their effective dates are such that some members of courts and commissions now draw more pay than others. The amendment would put the raises into effect for all at the time the holder, Freeman Decker, approves the new plan. Thirty-nine other states have such a board. Dozens of the most inpart terested groups in Nebraska, including the Nebraska State Education Association, the P-TA, the Nebraska Association of University Women, have approved it.

There you have all six. In order that all may find their way onto the statute books where they belong, we suggest a package approval on November 4. We believe if the voters explore the fine print, they will so mark their ballots on election day.

salary increase is provided for any one member.

Another proposal takes care of a discrepancy that has arisen with the establishment of the unicameral legislature. The statute now provides that if a constitutional convention were called, it shall consist of as many members as the House of Representatives. There no longer is a House of Representatives so the amendment calls for a convention of not more than 100 people. Under strict enforcement of the statute as it stands, such a convention could not include more than 43 persons, the number of present state legislators-and most everyone feels that this is not a representative number of people to govern a state as large as Nebraska. The proposal does not call a constitutional convention, although we would be for that. too.

The other two amendments correct situations that we feel need correcting. One would increase the salaries of legislators from $879.09 ner year to $1,250 ner year. This is a legitimate hike because the cost of living has increased perceptibly since the present salary, which also includes expense allowance, was set in 1935.

The sixth proposed amendment would provide a 6-member board of education for the state to dictate policy and appoint a commissioner. Nebraska now elects a state superintendent and the present office
