

There Are Many Things Of Interest To Servicemen

The interest shown in the Journal's Servicemen feature continues to grow and more and more names and addresses are being received at the Journal office. Now completing nearly publication, the column will continue to be carried in each issue of the Journal as long as names are submitted.

Today's list of names and addresses bring to nearly 70 the number of Cass county servicemen, whom we hope will have a much nicer Christmas because of the column, and because of the people who read it.

However, a message from a friend, even at this time, would probably be just as welcome by servicemen, wherever they are stationed. Right now would be a good time to tell them about the election, about the Plattsmouth high school term, about all the changes taking place in the Plattsmouth business district, of the new people in the neighborhood, and any news about neighbors and friends.

And it's a time, too, when definite plans for mailing those packages overseas must be considered. The November 15 deadline is approaching rapidly and will run out this week end. The post office department has guaranteed to make overseas delivery of all packages mailed before November 15 in time for Christmas.

Here is another list of servicemen and their addresses.

ZIP-TRAIN OF THE FUTURE

Whizzing over tomorrow's landscape, the high-speed monorail superliner seen at left above may be the railroad's answer to challenge of the airplane. Built near Cologne, Germany, for test runs only, the model car is two-fifths normal size, travels 100 miles per hour. Backed by Swedish millionaire Axel Wenner-Gren, the new train was kept secret by the Rail Transportation Research Society until this year. At right is the unique monorail track at a switching point which is set to curve right. Electric power is fed to the engine through metal bands on the rails. Rollers, built into a deep slot on the engine's underside, ride on the one rail which is six feet above ground. Full-scale models are expected to travel 210 miles per hour.

MILITARY BUDGET

Next year's military budget will not exceed $40,000,000,000, a cut of $5,000,000,000 from the amount appropriated for this year and $10,000,000,000 from what had been requested, according to Pentagon sources.
There would be no reduction in Army, Navy or Air Force programs, however.

FOOD PRICES UP

The Bureau of Labor Statistics
reports that retail food prices rose seven-tenths of one per cent during the first two weeks of October. The Bureau stated that its index for October 15 was three-tenths of one per cent
lower, however, than the index
for September 15.
