

Weeping Water

Mrs. Edward Van Horn, Correspondent

Mrs. Enoch Plunkett spent from Tuesday until Thursday at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Opp, as she could not get home. Lawrence Wiseman took her as far as Manly Thursday and her son Arthur met her with a team and wagon to take her the rest of the way home. Mrs. Hollenbeck was a Thanksgiving day guest of Mr. and Mrs. Cyrus Livingston.

After the spell-down the parents went to see the rooms where exhibits were on display. The mothers of the eighth-grade pupils served sandwiches and coffee. The December meeting will be held on Dec. 15 with the fifth and sixth grade mothers as the hostesses. Rev. Fred Gardner and Miss Pearl Schultz will be in charge of the December program. The eighth grade won the attendance prize by having the most parents present at the meeting. This prize is a planter with varieties of cacti growing in it. Next month if the eighth grade does not have the most parents present it will go to another room.

Weeping Water Community Has Survey Conducted

"A Community Looks At Itself" is an attractive pamphlet written by five students of the Graduate School of Social Work, University of Nebraska. They are Winifred Gilson, George Kalley, Shirley Kalley, Gene Meier and Paul Luenberger, Jr. Paul Luenberger, accompanied by Mrs. Jessica Epstone, executive secretary of the Nebraska Council on Children and Youth and Otto G. Holberg, supervisor of community division, University of Nebraska, attended the P. T. A. meeting Monday night and distributed copies of the pamphlet. The five graduate students made a survey of Weeping Water last spring. An attempt was made to include as many people as possible in the survey within the necessary time limitations. William Thornton, president of the Community Club, appointed a committee of five members, Joe Bender, Robert Shumaker, Mrs. Fred Gardner, Jack Philpot and Miss Pearl Schultz to serve as an Advisory Committee to the survey group. This Advisory Committee was representative of the various aspects of the community's life. Its membership included a farmer, two businessmen, a minister's wife and the Home Extension Agent of Cass County.

Part 1 is the introduction and it tells about the Weeping Water Community and "How the Project Came About." Part 2 is "Children and Youth in Weeping Water." This lists recreation, family living, health, religion and education pertaining to our children. Part 3 is "Self-Study Guides for the Small Community." This part of the pamphlet suggests procedures that other communities can follow for conducting a community self-study. Weeping Water's weakest link was in the health area. Another finding was the lack of organized recreation for the teen-age group.

Mr. Otto Holberg told of the number of requests which had been made by cities in Nebraska for this pamphlet and also of requests from California, Minnesota, Illinois, the United States Department in Washington, D. C., the Biblical Institute in Illinois and from Latin America and Mexico.

This study is being published in the hope that it may serve as a stimulus and guide to other small Nebraska communities which desire to take a self-inventory as a means of seeing more clearly what might be done toward community improvement. "A Community Looks At Itself" is available to anyone free of charge upon request. Write to the University Extension Division for a copy.

Sunbeam Health Club Organized
The Sunbeam Health Club was organized last Friday under the leadership of Mrs. J. M. Ranney. The meeting was held at the Ranney home. Connie Rector was elected president; Jerry Michelson, vice president; Patsy Jones, secretary; Juanita Nichols, news reporter; Kathy Callahan, Bonnie Noble and Jane Rasmussen, game and songs.

The group is learning the 4-H pledge and a new health exercise. Mrs. Ranney told us about "Safety in the Home." Each one is to make a list of things that will cause an accident. Each one told something they were thankful for. Mrs. Ranney served lunch. The next meeting will be Dec. 5 after school.
