concerning "Christmas in Other Lands" were read by different members.

Mrs. Lucy Case and Mrs. Laura Holmberg gave the special "Christmas Journey" for special entertainment.

An offering of $5.25 was received by Children's Memorial hospital at Omaha. Mrs. Kreslow, president, and Mrs. Leavitt, secretary, each had their part in this program and date cards, wrapped cream, and coffee were served by the hostesses.

Mrs. Myrtle Wood received a communication from her friend, Edith Abel, returned missionary now in the WSPC home in Pasadena. She had attended a tea given for Rev. and Mrs. Blockwell in this home. Mr. Blockwell was the last Methodist missionary in China and he had been for two years in a Communist prison there.

An organized system of shorthand was developed and used by the Romans as early as 63 B. C.

pastor, gave a short timely talk. Opal Clements sang a special number about the child of Bethlehem between the parts of the cantata.

There was a ladies' chorus and Frank Mills sang an outgaze solo for one of the selections.

Other soloists were Tom Backemeyer, soprano, Harold Lotman, alto, Mr. Arthur, baritone and Paul Evelyn, tenor.

Helen Schneider and Opal Clements sang a duet as another special.

The chorus numbers were outstanding also. After the program assorted cookies and coffee were served to the singers by the senior fellowship group.

There was an interesting kindergarten program in their room on Friday forenoon, with visitors present. The teacher is Mrs. Phiering. Music and recitations were given and there was a tree a Santa Claus, and a party.

Mrs. Nettie Mendenhall was hostess to the Blue Bird Christmas meeting on Tuesday with Mrs. Edna Fleischman and Mrs. Alice Miller assisting hostesses. Stories of "Silent Night" and "O Little Town of Bethlehem" were given and were sung by the group for the first, and the second as a solo by Mary Lindhardt.

Mrs. Plybon, as leader, and Mrs. Hollenbeck, assistant, described the beautiful tree decorations they had made and displayed on a table. Christmas played on a table. Readings

South Dakotan Here For Holidays

Mrs. Ruth Fitch Stillebour is here from South Dakota for a two weeks holiday visit with her mother, sisters, and other relatives. She visited in Omaha and in Kearney a short time last week as she had been government employed in the past, in both cities.

Miss Cora Marquez writes from Albuquerque, New Mexico, where she is a grade teacher. Since there are a thousand teachers in that system the work is much supervised and the teachers, many of them, do not know each other. She writes that she prefers a small school and she often thinks of Elmwood people. Miss Marquez attended many of the Billy Graham services in the mammoth pavilion in Albuquerque.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Otley are the parents of a daughter born Dec. 16 at Lincoln General hospital. She is a thousand teachers in that system the work is much supervised and the teachers, many of them, do not know each other. She writes that she prefers a small school and she often thinks of Elmwood people. Miss Marquez attended many of the Billy Graham services in the mammoth pavilion in Albuquerque.

Cantata Is Given Thursday Night At Methodist Church

"Star of the Silent Night," music by Roy F. Nolte, words by Dorothy Abbott, was the cantata that was presented at the Methodist church on Thursday evening, by singers from six churches here and at Murdock. It was well rendered by around 45 choir members who marched in bearing candles as they sang "Joy to the World." The able conductor was Mrs. Jackie Harrison Archer.

Rev. N. F. Horn conducted devotionals and Dr. Story, church
