

ELMWOOD HIGHLIGHTS

Mrs. Grace Plybon Phone 4-2247

Mrs. Mary Muchholz, sister of Mrs. Wilhelm, passed away on September 17. She was a life-long resident of the Avoca community. The Wilhelm family attended the funeral service at Avoca.

Mr. R. K. Whittemore and son, Marshall, have both so improved that they count on going to pursue their usual tasks on Monday, the former as chef on the Union Pacific and Marshall at his high school studies in freshman year.

On Wednesday, while Paul Bornemeier was painting the house on his farm, he fell from the ladder and broke the bones in his heel. The ladder had been placed in soft dirt.

Mrs. Claude Hewitt and son, Tommy, of Diller spent three days last week with her mother, Mrs. Nettie Mendenhall.

Rev. J. A. Adams returned to his Fort Worth, Texas, home on Wednesday after a week here. While in the county he helped the Murdock people to plan for an older people's fellowship group with another name, starting in 1954.

Mrs. Monning was a Lincoln visitor on Thursday, and her sister, Mrs. Gonzales, went from there to Malcolm to spend a night and day with her sister, Mrs. Rudolph.

Mrs. Lyle visited several days last week here in the homes of Mrs. Nettie Mendenhall and Mrs. Ola Hayes.

Three Attending State Colleges

Two of last spring's graduating class are now in Wesleyan. Judy Cook is using her scholarship fund and Keith Bornemeier has been accepted as a member of the college band. Dudley Doeble is attending the University of Nebraska.

Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Johnson of Wilbur, Wash., were guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Moomey last week. Mrs. Johnson and Mrs. Moomey are cousins.

Mr. and Mrs. Croston and three children are soon to have their home in the McLaughlin property, lately vacated by Dr. Williams. They are to move here from Ravenna.

Relatives received word that Merle Buell of Syracuse broke his ankle while crossing a fence Monday evening.

Mrs. Roy Clark is in Colorado visiting a sister, who is ill there. Miss Lorraine Jeffers rode to Falls City on the train Friday morning to come back in the afternoon in the car with her brother, Gordon, who is a high school teacher there.

Mrs. Bussell has returned to her home at Weeping Water after spending the summer in the home of Mrs. Mary Miller. Mr. and Mrs. Barden of Wabash are staying with her until such time as Mrs. Nickleson of Wabash can return from Omaha where she is having eye treatment.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Gerbeling and Mr. and Mrs. Dale Gerbeling and Gary of Nora were here on Saturday. Their mother, Mrs. Cora Gerbeling, returned home with them to make her home at Nora, where she had lived for a good many years.

On Monday Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Hollenbeck were among those at Lincoln attending the funeral services of Mrs. Spangler.

Mrs. Monning entertained at dinner on Sunday her sister, Mrs. Emily Gonzales, and from Lincoln Miss Dorothy Walker and her uncle.

Law And Order Column In Journal Cited

Sheriff Tom Solomon

Gaining national recognition is a column published weekly in the Plattsmouth Journal and written by Sheriff Tom Solomon. The column is "Law and Order", started in the Journal several months ago.

New Officers Elected By Blue Bird Club Here

For the September Blue Bird club meeting at the home of Mrs. F. W. Robb the setting was just right for the flower and Nebraska program. Cora Gerbeling and Grace Plybon led the lesson on "Wild Flowers in Nebraska". The hostess read from her Wild Flower book, and Edna Fleischman read Lowell's poem, "To the Dandelion". Pressed flower cards were shown, six of them being from Mrs. John Creamer of Ogalala. For Alma Marshall's topic, she used the high school study book about Nebraska.

President Lois Krecklow led the business session. Officers elected for 1954 were: president, Mina Leavitt; vice-president, Bess Robb; secretary-treasurer, Alma Marshall; reporter, Grace Plybon.

Articles for the bazaar for Omaha Children's hospital are to be brought to the October meeting with Mrs. Roy Clark. Members enjoyed refreshments prepared by Mrs. Hollenbeck, Mrs. Horton and the hostess.

Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Clements were three Peru students, Miss Carol McKee, Miss Marilyn Hawxby and Ben Duerfeldt. They were glad to visit with Fred Clements, who is to report soon to Omaha for military service.

On September 13 while Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Murfin were on vacation from Lincoln, they spent the time at their Wabash home and relatives visited them. This included Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Holke and the Fred Weisheit family.

On September 20, having a picnic and fishing party at the Adolph Schroeder home at Palmyra were the families of Fred Engelking, and Fred Weisheit, and Miss Minnie Engelking and their sister, Mrs. Mary Stege, of Lincoln. The hostess is a daughter of Mary Stege and niece of the others.

Driving to Havelock on Sunday were Frank Poskochnil and Fred Weisheit and families.

Mrs. Mary Oerlerking, mother of Chas. Marshall, is reported to be improving at Bryan hospital.

George Hall is at home from the hospital after several weeks there. He is still confined in bed, however.

Recently Mr. and Mrs. Fred Weisheit had a trip to Plattsmouth combining business and pleasure. They visited Miss Mary Lau, sister of Mrs. Weisheit and a nurse there.

We are glad to report that Russell Reeder is much improved at his home in Cambridge.

Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Edwards of Alvo attended church in Elmwood Sunday and appreciated, as did others the sermon by Rev. Godbey at the Methodist church.

After church services Sunday, Rev. Godbey drove to Lincoln for Mrs. Godbey, who had been taking treatments since Thursday at Bryan Memorial hospital.

The new home of Mr. and Mrs. Sanford Clements is rapidly taking shape. It is to be a ten-room ranch style house, built of brick with full basement and two fire places.

The Missionary Study club of the Methodist WSCS met with Mrs. Ted Hall on Tuesday night.

Dr. Howard Liston is in a Milwaukee hospital receiving treatment.

On Monday evening Mrs. Ruth Davis entertained Mrs. Cora Gerbeling and Mrs. Plybon with each Thursday, tells how the idea for the column came about and of the different topics in the column by the Sheriff.

The column was started in mid-summer to replace a Veteran's column published for several years in the Journal.

chens took Herbert Oehlerking, Lester Rosenow, Rev. Kampman and Edward Bornemeier to work at the Riverside Park at Milford. Thirty-eight men painted, raised the dormitory, and other work was done. The women served them dinner and supper.

Misses Marie and Dorthella Jeffers are employed in Lincoln, doing book and office work.

Community Kensington met with Mrs. Reber on Thursday. After the jokes given out by the leader, Mrs. Hollenbeck, the special numbers were presented. Darlene Krecklow and two of her busy Baster girls had these. Darlene read the original sketch she had given at Weeping Water 4-H program. Then Linda Husar and Wanda Groves gave a demonstration of baton twirling acts. There were appropriate poems and articles read, followed by games and the covered dish dinner.

Several farmers have been shelling corn and taking it to the Eagle government bins.

Howard Pool is having a modern corn crib built on his farm west of town.

Mrs. Nellie Patton had as guests for ten days her son, Donald Patton of Casper, Wyo., and her granddaughter, Connie Patterson, of Fort Collins, Colo.

Fifty-Eight Are Served At Annual Sunset Dinner

At the twelfth annual sunset dinner, 58 plates were served to members, along with several program helpers. The meeting was in the EUC church and prizes were many for the excellent repast served by the ladies of that congregation.

Mrs. Totman led the hymn singing and Mrs. Bert Story was pianist. Devotional parts were by Rev. Kampman, Rev. Jochens, Rev. Horn and Rev. Story.

Merwina Kampman played a violin solo and Joyceola Eidenmiller sang "The Lord's Prayer". Memorial tribute was given by Mrs. Wendt and Mrs. Jochens. Mrs. Jochens ably served also as secretary and for greeting she read an original poem.

Mrs. Horton gave two readings and Mrs. Coakley gave a talk about the Indians and exhibited a few of her five hundred articles she has collected. Rev. J. A. Adams gave a pleasing talk.

Oldest man present was John Gozales, 95, and oldest woman was Mrs. Jostie Miller, 88.

Officers elected were president, Ed Earnst; vice-president, Herman Bornemeier; secretary, Mrs. J. T. Jochens; treasurer, Melvin Miller.

Mrs. Anna Beck is moving into the telephone building, formerly occupied by Mrs. Lyle.

On Wednesday two cars of Eastern Star members, Ideal Chapter, drove to Omaha to visit it Mrs. B. F. Hickman. They presented her with a fifty-year membership pin from the Grand Chapter. She and her daughter-in-law, in whose home she lives, served a one o'clock luncheon to the group. Cars were driven by Mrs. R. Eveland and Mrs. Totman. Others in the group were Mrs. O. E. Liston, Mrs. Frank Buell, Mrs. Olive Westlake, Mrs. Sumner, Mrs. Emily Gonzales and Mrs. Laura Deles Dernier. Mrs. Olive Westlake, worthy matron of Ideal Chapter, presented the pin and a plant, in behalf of the Elmwood Lodge. The Hickmans, former residents of Elmwood, lived on the property now occupied by Mrs. Henry Oehlerking. They left in 1937.

Mrs. Emmett Cook is the efficient mail carrier on the route east and south of town, including Wabash, which her husband carried before he became ill.

The number of television stations in this country has doubled since the Federal "freeze" was lifted in April 1952. There are now 217 stations operating, 53 of which are on UHF—Ultra High Frequency.
