PLANT BUILDING OFF
 The Office of Defense Mobilization has reported that defense-plant expansion is still short of the Government's goal in 68 essential industries. Arthur S. Fleming, ODM Director, called on private firms in these fields to apply for "certificates of necessity" entitling them to Federal tax assistance in building up defense-important plants and equipment.
CORPORATE TAX IELD
 The Internal Revenue Bureau reports that a sharp drop in corporation tax payments is holding Federal revenue collections below last year's rate. Corporation income and profits taxes totaled $1,767,000,000 in September, compared with $2,442,000,000 in September, 1952. This brought total corporate payments to $2,744,000,000 since the fiscal year began July 1—about $1,000,000 below the same period of 1952.

It's about time for the graduation speakers to start sounding off.

 Dec. 17, 1953
 Editor, The Plattsmouth Journal
 Dear Sir:—
 In your editorial, issue December 14th you made the following statement:—"If anybody could make a move that would insure peace for the world, all the people would be thankful." I consider that a move to this effect was made over nineteen hundred years ago. Please notice the birth announcement of our Lord, Luke 2:8-14. Especially the fourteenth verse, "Glory to God in the highest, and on each peace, good will toward men." Please notice Isaiah 2:2-4, also Micah 4:1-4. You will please notice that these passages make it plain, that after the people decide to let the Lord have his way and they come to understand the way of the Lord, then they shall beat their swords into plowshares and their spears into pruning hooks. Neither shall they learn war any more. Therefore, with us are ready to put into practice the Golden Rule "Do unto others as you would like to be done by" and "Love thy neighbor as thyself." Then we would have a united Church for which Jesus prayed in John 17, and a united Church we would have power and influence, and the result would be a united world in a brotherhood under the reign of Christ Jesus. "The Prince of Peace." God laid out the program, all there is for man to do, is to accept God's plan.
 Yours truly,
 N. F. HORN,
 Christian Minister

Storms Can Reduce Egg Production, Specialist Warns
 With more severe winter weather setting in, some Nebraska poultry producers are asking how to light their chicken houses in case the electric power is disrupted, says J. H. Claybaugh, extension poultry specialist at the University of Nebraska.
 Many farmers depend upon the use of electric lights in their chicken houses to help hold egg production during the short days of winter.
 Before the days of electricity on farms Claybaugh says lamps and lanterns were used to get the hens up and eating at an early hour. The old style kitchen lamp or lantern with the reflectors that concentrated the light on the feed and water were the type preferred. Broiler growers who use electric lights in their brooder houses still depend upon lanterns to help light the houses in case of power failure.
 There are several management practices that poultrymen use to help prevent a slump in egg production following interruptions of electric power because of storms. They use a day to day comparison of the amount of feed consumed by the laying flock as a method of forecasting continued or variations in egg production. When feed consumption slumps, the experienced poultryman tries various methods to stimulate lagging appetites. A mid-day feeding of mash in crumbled or pellet form, a milk moistened mash or a condensed milk product are a few of the feeds used on special occasions to stimulate appetites and prevent egg production slumps.

NEW JOBS
 To keep pace with the nation's rapidly growing population, American industry needs 1,000,000 new jobs a year for the next 20 years, according to Earl Bunting, of the National Association of Manufacturers. Bunting predicted that the nation's present labor force of 65,000,000 will rise to 87,000,000 by 1975.
