Bible Comment:

St. Luke Gave Us Priceless Record Of The Gospel

SAINT LUKE, author of the Third Gospel, was not one of the Twelve Apostles. But to him we owe a great deal of our knowledge about them.

For the history of the early church, we again depend upon St. Luke, whose Book of Acts is a valuable supplement to the Pauline Epistles.

Of the Gospel incidents, Luke was not an eyewitness (Luke 1:2), but in relating what eye-witnesses told him Luke brought to his Gospel the same power of narration so vividly displayed in his reports of things of which he was a part.

Two parables of Luke's are notable: The Prodigal son, recorded only by him, and the Lost Sheep.

Though Man thinks in terms of numbers—we estimate the seriousness of a calamity by the number of lives lost—Luke, following the Master, reveals God's concern for a single soul in his unforgettable parable of the Lost Sheep.

Of Luke, himself, we have but a limited knowledge. References in Colossians IV indicate he was a Gentile convert.

That he was the companion of Paul in much that he narrates is implied in passages where "we" appears, and it seems probable that Luke became a Christian through Paul.

What is certain, apart from all conjecture, is the place that Luke occupies in preserving for all time the most complete record of the Gospel story.

He has given the world the life and work of Jesus, and also the vivid story of how Christianity spread from Jerusalem to Antioch and to Europe.

Man's dominion over all materiality is stressed in the readings from the King James Version of the Bible as well as those from "Science and Health With Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy. The Scriptural selections include the account as given in Matthew (14:22-32) of how Christ Jesus and Peter walked on the sea.

Readings from Science and Health include the following: "In proportion as matter loses to human sense all entity as man, in that proportion does man become its master. He enters into a diviner sense of the facts, and comprehends the theology of Jesus as demonstrated in healing the sick, raising the dead, and walking over the wave. All these deeds manifested Jesus' control over the belief that matter is substance, that it can be the arbiter of life or the constructor of any form of existence." (369:5).

The Golden Text is from Psalms: "God hath spoken once; twice have I heard this; that power belongeth unto God." (62:11).

Bank Earnings

The nation's insured commercial banks had their first billion-dollar-profit year in 1953, according to the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation. The 13,432 commercial banks whose depositors are insured by the F. D. I. C. had net profits of $1,020,000,000, which was four per cent higher than in 1952.

The Oracle of Delphi became your servant

In ancient Greece, so the story goes, natural gas performed one of its strangest uses. Gas flowing from a chasm in the ground caused the "Oracle of Delphi" to utter strange words which were arranged by long-bearded prophets into messages from the gods.

Modern uses of natural gas — in your home, business or industry — are more familiar. Natural gas is a servant of many roles... and the biggest bargain in your home today.

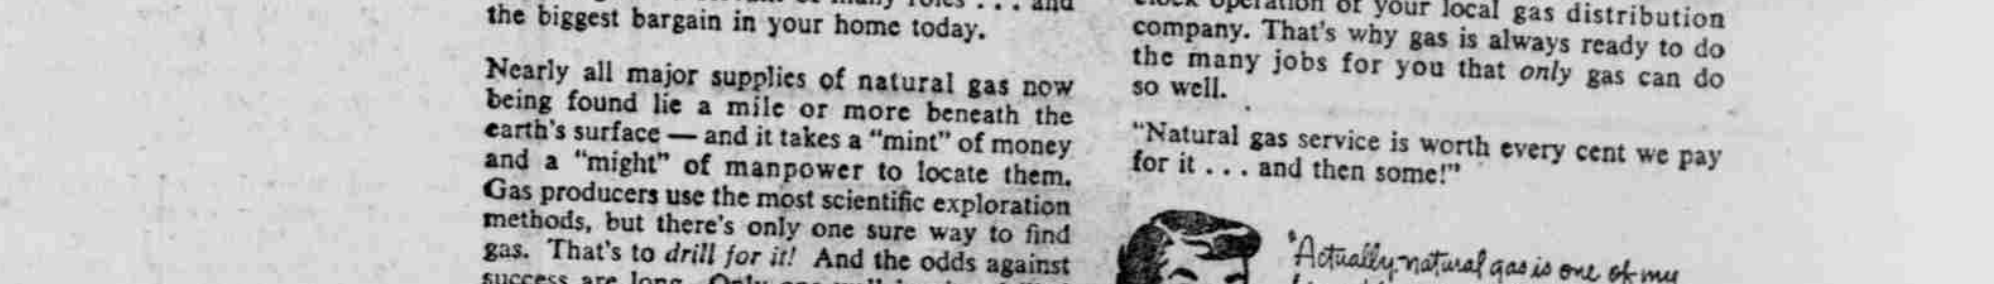

Nearly all major supplies of natural gas now being found lie a mile or more beneath the earth's surface — and it takes a "mint" of money and a "might" of manpower to locate them. Gas producers use the most scientific exploration methods, but there's only one sure way to find gas. That's to drill for it! And the odds against success are long. Only one well in nine drilled in exploratory areas during 1952 produced oil or gas.

But the natural gas industry will continue to explore for additional reserves of this premium fuel... build and maintain pipe lines, compressor stations, and local distribution systems... so long as natural gas sells at prices that provide a fair measure of profit.

Your silent, dependable servant — natural gas — is always on call because of the round-the-clock operation of your local gas distribution company. That's why gas is always ready to do the many jobs for you that only gas can do so well.

"Natural gas service is worth every cent we pay for it... and then some!"

Actually, natural gas is one of my biggest bargains. It's worth every cent I pay for it... and then some!
