

Grandson Is Appointed to CG Academy

Another well-known Plattsmouth grandson has made quite an accomplishment in completing his high school work this summer.

He is Tad Murdick, grandson of E. H. Westcott of Plattsmouth. Young Tad leaves by plane on July 6 from his Grand Haven, Michigan home for New London, Connecticut, where he will enter the United States Coast Guard Academy on July 7.

He received the appointment by competitive examination given last February to some 15,000 boys throughout the country, with 225 being selected to enroll in the freshman class as they are called and admitted during the year. The academy has an enrollment of about 525.

At New London, young Murdick will take a four year course, and must serve four years in the Coast Guard after graduation.

In high school, Tad was a basketball, football, baseball and golf player, and this year received four major letters. He was quarterback on the undefeated Grand Haven football team.

Aside from sports, he was president of the student council, active in Theatians, Hi-Y, Service Club and on the annual board.

Tad, his sister, Katie, and his mother, the former Helen Westcott, have been frequent summer visitors at Plattsmouth and have made many friends here, while visiting with their grandfather and other relatives.

During the last fiscal year, in 17 percent of the year's disaster relief operations, 48 percent of the total families aided by the Red Cross were tornado victims.

Chinch Bug Control By Spray May Not Be Very Practical

Entomologists at the College of Agriculture say there is some question as to whether or not it is practicable—because of the cost—to spray barley for chinch bug control.

Two of the new insecticides recommended for chinch bug control when used as strip barriers. These are dusting with one percent lidane dust and the applying of dieldrin at the rate of one-half pound of actual dieldrin per acre in a strip 20 to 40 feet wide. These materials are generally used in strips to protect corn.

An average of more than 485 families per week, suffering injuries or losses through disaster, were given Red Cross emergency and rehabilitation aid in the last fiscal year.

Beer Retailers Hosts to Civic Leaders Here

Cass county beer retailers were hosts Tuesday night to civic leaders and guests throughout the county in an annual educational program held at Plattsmouth under direction of the Nebraska Division of the United States Brewers Foundation.

An estimated 100 countians, including city officials from a half dozen communities in the county, were present.

Included on the program, held at Eagles Hall, was an address by Art Whitworth, director of the Nebraska Division of the U. S. Brewers, a film, showing manufacture and processing of beer; and a dutch lunch served by the Eagles Auxiliary.

Hal Culepper and Carl Benzel, also represented the Nebraska Division at the Cass county meeting.

Speaking to the one hundred men and women, Whitworth explained that the nation's brewers are among the best taxpayers in the United States. He pointed out that in 1953 brewers paid in excess of one billion dollars in excise taxes and other forms of taxation. In the state of Nebraska, the tax was more than $11,500,000, including some $151,000 paid by retailers for license fees, and another $3,000,000 in taxes, both property and other.

Second oldest trade association, the Brewers Foundation is established to see that beer is sold and served in clean, law abiding places, Whitworth said. He explained also that though not commonly known, beer has certain food values, as well as being a tonic useful to health of many individuals.

Among guests at the Tuesday night session were Mayor and Mrs. Leo Meisinger, Councilman and Mrs. Clark Finney, Councilman and Mrs. Sam Ann, Councilman Howard Hirz and Sheriff Tom Solomon of Plattsmouth; Mayor Lou Williams of Louisville; Charles Attebery, Fred Clark, Thorne Lee and H. Becker of Union; Bill Leesley of Greenwood, Clarence Nessen, Ed Maseman and Allen Koop of Louisville; Dave Kolb of Eagle and Senator and Mrs. Tom Dooley of Papillion.

The Heart of the Matter
There's a lot of fuzzy thinking these days, particularly since the Secretary of Agriculture set dairy price supports at 75 percent of parity. There will be more fuzzy thinking when the full story of the 1955 wheat allotment is out.

Fuzzy thinkers claim 75 percent supports encourage dairy farmers to increase herds to produce more milk to make up for the cut in milk prices. Fuzzy thinkers claim that if wheat were on a flexible support program instead of the rigid 90 percent operation which has brought on the current troubles, wheat farmers would plant more wheat to produce more bushels to make up for the price loss. Such thinking completely ignores the fact that no farmer is going to raise or produce a product which costs him more than he can receive for it.

Farmers differ in ability to produce wheat, for example, at a cost to him of $1.00 a bushel. A neighbor may have to spend $1.25 a bushel to produce wheat. Still other neighbors may spend $1.50, $1.75, even more to produce each bushel. The difference in production costs is in efficiency of operation.

An objective of flexible price supports is to encourage less efficient producers to move from a commodity, be it milk or wheat, which costs them too much to be profitable to commodities they can produce more efficiently.

To get to the heart of the matter, at the beginning of World War II it became apparent the world was going to need food, and lots of it. To encourage production, Congress junked temporarily flexible price supports for high rigid price guarantees for wheat, cotton and other commodities. We got production and abundance.

Seasonal Price Drop on Hogs Is Expected in Fall

Push pigs for the early market advises A. W. Epp, agriculture economist at the College of Agriculture.

Hog numbers are up 10 percent over last year. He expects hog prices to follow the usual seasonal trend next fall and not go up in November and December as in 1953.

Epp suggests that farmers could farrow the usual number of sows in the fall of 1954 as the corn-hog ration is likely to be favorable through most of this year.

Two Countians Have Livestock on Market

Shipments to the Omaha market from Cass county trailed off during the past week after a generally large list the previous week.

Slaughter steers sold steady to 25 cents lower at Omaha Monday, hogs were weak to as much as a dollar lower, and lambs were steady to mostly 50 cents down.
