Band Has Heavy Schedule During Next Two Weeks

Wednesday night trip to Nebraska City has launched a busy two week period for the Plattsmouth band.

Following the Otoe county performance, the Plattsmouth musical group is listed for five performances, including an appearance at the county fair at Weeping Water.

The schedule looks like this: August 21—Omaha, August 25—Weeping Water, August 28—Springfield, September 2—Syracuse. The band previously had performed at Papillion last week.

DEFICIT
The Eisenhower Administration ended its first full year in office with a deficit of $3,029,000,000, or $245,000,000 less than the deficit forecast by Administration fiscal experts last January.

Don't Roast While You're Baking

BY EDNA MILES

THE kitchen is no place to spend these hot summer days. But even so, the family must be fed and must have at least one hot meal a day.

One solution lies in cutting down on the use of your oven during summer months and substituting an infrared rotisserie broiler that actually bakes. With this broiler you can bake at table height, working with a stainless steel appliance that's easy to keep clean and that offers visual cooking.

But that's not all. Your family can have foods that are barbecued, roasted, broiled, toasted, boiled, fried or grilled from this same broiler. Actually, in a very tiny kitchen, it's an ideal substitute for a stove.

The baking secret of this broiler lies in the tray, which slides into the unit and thus is automatically and thermostatically controlled. It turns itself off when baking is completed. And it can be used as a hot tray to be kept on the table, as a serving tray when used without heat and as a hot plate or grill.

Further, the broiler's timing mechanism can be used to turn off other electrical appliances.

Keep cool when performing those hot-weather cooking chores. An infrared rotisserie broiler takes care of nearly all cooking functions while adding a minimum quantity of heat to the atmosphere.

Board's Choice of Grammer Jams Up Good Intentions

Choosing the little word "abandon" got Cass County Commissioner in a jam at Nehawka.

In setting up the Federal Aid Secondary road from Murray to Nehawka Federal Highway officials demanded this road take another route through the city.

In preparing the resolution officials in Lincoln selected the word "abandon" for the point at the intersection of Main St. and Washington Ave., to the north quarter corner of Ste. 1, T. 10N, R. 12E.

This was a poor selection as results proved as soon as The Journal was distributed in Nehawka. County Dads were swamped with calls of protest from residents requesting the road be retained.

Commissioner Ray Norris told The Journal, "The Board has no intentions of abandoning the road, but the new Federal Aid highway, in order to comply for funds, will take another course through Nehawka, yet to be determined. The present road will be maintained as is."

Mr. Norris also added, "We feel the new Murray-Nehawka highway will be a big improvement to the county road system. However, we wouldn't want to construct such a road if residents in the area do not desire it."

Miss Kay Cunningham of Ashland was a Tuesday supper and evening guest of Miss Elaine Fidler.

Thursday dinner guests of Mrs. J. L. Carnicle were Mrs. Mary Frahm of Ithaca, Mrs. Hazel Peterson of Ashland, and Mrs. Edna Haswell of Wabash.

Afternoon visitors were Mrs. Artie Wiszmann and Terry. Bill Carnicle and little Terry Wiszmann were supper guests.

Miss Kay Cunningham of Ashland was a Tuesday supper and evening guest of Miss Elaine Fidler.

I wish to thank all who voted for me in the recent primary election. During the campaign I renewed old acquaintances and made new friends. Although I did not win, it was a pleasant experience.
