

Rearranging Methodist Sunday School Department

Crowded conditions in the Sunday School of the First Methodist church have necessitated several changes. The beginners and kindergarten department completely outgrew their room so have been moved into the main dining room of the basement. Mrs. Robert Brittain is the superintendent of the department with Mrs. Louis Kief and Mrs. Fred Fisher assisting.

Capt. Garrison and his intermediate group (seventh and eighth grades) were then moved into the vacated room. The Junior department is comprised of the 4th, 5th and 6th grade children, they are now in the Memorial room. Mrs. Lloyd Fitch is superintendent and also teaches the 6th grade. Mrs. Vernon Arn has the 5th grade and Mrs. Theodore Yelick has the 4th grade girls and Mrs. Lloyd Fitch is the teacher of the 4th grade boys. Mrs. Art McLean is substitute teacher and Mrs. Glen Johnson of Murray is pianist and also directs the junior choir.

Death of Former Murray Resident

Henry Chester Shrader was born Nov. 18, 1901, at Murray, Nebr., and passed away at Omaha, Nebr., Sept. 3, 1954, following an automobile accident.

He was the son of Robert M. and Bertha Long Shrader.

In 1906 he moved with his parents to Hendley, Nebr. After living there a short time he returned to Murray to attend school, and made his home with his grandparents, the late Mr. and Mrs. Henry Long, until his parents returned to Murray in 1913 and moving to Omaha in 1915. After he finished school at Murray he attended Boyles College at Omaha. Upon graduation there, he entered the employment of the Northwestern Bell Telephone Company at the Omaha office. About five years ago he was transferred to the Walnut exchange.

His 33 years of continuous service is an outstanding record and speaks of his ability and efficiency.

In 1926 he was united in marriage with Dorothy Getrost. His wife, mother and sister preceded him in death, all within fourteen months. He was a member of Telephone Pioneers of America and Kountze Memorial church. He was a 32nd degree Mason, a member of Nebraska Lodge No. 1, A. F. & A. M., Scottish Rite and the Shrine.

Funeral services were held Sept. 7th at Fitch & Cole chapel. Rev. Traub of Kountze Memorial church officiated.

Music included "Beyond the Sunset" and two songs, "God Will Take Care of You," and "Abide With Me." Casket bearers were from the Walnut exchange and the Masonic Lodge, Ray Seaman, H. P. Petersen, G. A. Harkness, A. W. Kuepper, A. L. Burger and Theodore Zimmerman.

Committal was at Graceland Park cemetery, Omaha, with Nebraska Lodge No. 1, A. F. & A. M. in charge of services. Those left to mourn his loss are an aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. George Nickles, Murray, Nebr., an aunt, Mrs. Cattie Christy, Weeping Water, Nebr., one niece, Mrs. Betty Boyer, Kansas City, Kans., a number of cousins, and a host of friends.

Extension Club State Council At Neb. City

Home extension club members will meet at Nebraska City, September 21, 22, 23 for their annual State Council meeting.

Miss Florence Atwood, state home extension leader, has announced the three day program includes speakers, panel discussions, tours and other interesting features carrying out the theme, "Yesterday, Today, and Tomorrow."

Highlighted speaker on the program is Miss Francis Scudder, director of Division of Home Economics Programs, U. S. Department of Agriculture. Her topic is "The Future Is Yours." Miss Scudder will speak at 2:00 Wednesday afternoon.

Registration will begin at 9:00 on Tuesday morning. Early arrivals will take part in informal discussion groups until the formal opening of the program at 10:00. Tuesday afternoon features a panel discussion "How Can I As A Homemaker Be A Better Key In National and World Affairs."

Wednesdays program promises to be one of great interest to club women. E. W. Janke, associate director of the Extension Service in Nebraska, will be the keynote speaker on the morning program. He will give the women a better understanding of the Extension Service of which they are a part in his speech, "History and Philosophy of Extension Service." Another special feature of the day is "Grandmother's Centennial Dress Revue."

Included in the afternoon program is a panel on "Nebraska's Story On Home Improvement," moderated by Mrs. Virginia Trotter, home economics instructor at the University of Nebraska. The evening program will be one of relaxation, featuring a barbeque on a pageant by the Nebraska City Centennial Committee.

The final day of the Council Meeting will begin at 6:00 a. m. with a "Morning Is Dawning" program. The evening program will be one of relaxation, featuring a barbeque on a pageant by the Nebraska City Centennial Committee.

This home extension meeting in Nebraska City is an open meeting. Any homemaker interested in home economics and community affairs is cordially invited to attend. Husbands of women attending are also welcomed to the meeting.

OUT OF OLD NEBRASKA

by JAMES C. OLSON, Superintendent STATE HISTORICAL SOCIETY

When the University of Nebraska first opened its doors to students, September 6, 1871, its chancellor was Allen R. Benton, who came to the University from the presidency of Alliance College in Alliance, Ohio. Chancellor Benton remained at the head of the University for five years, and during that time started it on the way to becoming the great institution it is today.

Allen R. Benton was born in Cayuga County, New York, October 1, 1822. After attending the local schools he went on to Elm Ridge and Fulton Academy in New York and then went to Bethany College in West Virginia from which institution he graduated in 1847.

He then went out to Fairview, Indiana, to open an academy which during the six years of his management became widely known throughout the Old Northwest.

Desiring to further his education, he entered Rochester University, and while a student there was appointed professor of ancient languages at Northwestern Christian University in Indianapolis. In 1861 he became president and served as the head of the institution for seven years, resigning to accept appointment as professor of Latin at Alliance College. Administration again called him, however, and in a few years he became president of the college.

Though much of his life was spent as administrator, Chancellor Benton appears to have impressed his associates more for his scholarly accomplishment than his administrative ability. Howard W. Caldwell, in his pioneer history of education in Nebraska, said of him: "He preferred the life of a student to the active work of the Chancellorship, and it may be said, without any disparagement of his work and ability, that he was better fitted for the classroom than for combating the world. His administration was careful, conservative, and in harmony with the old rather than with the new ideas of education."

Professor Samuel Aughey, a member of the first faculty and one of the best known men in Nebraska, describes Chancellor Benton as follows:

"He shone in a recitation room . . . in fact, so varied was his scholarship that he was equally at home at almost every department of college work. He made every object luminous by the clearness of his analysis. In popular address, when using manuscript, he rarely did himself justice, but his production uniformly read remarkably well. When, however, he dispensed with his manuscript he spoke with rare eloquence and power. Neat in person, pure in thoughts, clear in intellect, studious in life, courteous to a remarkable degree, the charm of the social circle, he was a model Christian, scholar and gentleman."

Who'll We Send In Next?

UNUSUAL BABIES
BOSTON — Police recently spotted Vincent Guinta, 29, wheeling a baby carriage at an unusually early morning hour and shouting, "Come and get your babies." The "babies" were bottles of wine which Guinta was selling — without a license.
