Ralph R. Reeve Rites Saturday In Colorado

Funeral services were Satur-day for Ralph Richard Reeve, 60, formerly of Elmwood, in Craig, Colo., where he for many years had been a prominent livestock man.

Born Feb. 13, 1894, at Max, Nebr., his early life was spent in eastern Nebraska. After graduating from high school at Elmwood, he attended Peru State Normal and graduated in 1915. He taught several years and in 1921 was married to Edith B. Miller and they moved to a homestead on Blue Mountain, Colo.

He became one of the larger livestock operators in Moffat county, Colorado, and was active in many community af-fairs. He was past-president of the Routt-Moffat Woolgrowers association and of the Colorado Woolgrowers association, and annually was manager of the Craig ram sale. In 1953 he was honored by being chosen regional top-hand in the Colorado Range Livestock contest.

Survivors include his wife; four daughters, Mrs. Emily Hol-der of Knoxville, Tenn., Marlys Myers, Berneda Nicodemus and Janice Davidson, all of Craig; six grandchildren; four sisters, Ruth Monning and Emily Gon-zales of Elmwood, Frances Ru-dolph of Malcomb, Nebr., and Dorothy Mills of Murdock; two brothers, Roger of LaSalle, Colo., and Herbert of Idaho Falls, Idaho.

Those attending the funeral included Mrs. Mills, Mrs. Gon-zales, and Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Fleishman and Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Miller of Elmwood.

Extension Agents Appear on TV

Cass county extension agents Clarence Schmadeke and Pearl L. Schultz, along with several other agents from counties sur-rounding Lincoln, are conduct-ing educational programs on station KUON TV in Lincoln.

The station which operates on channel 12, is run temporarily by the University of Nebraska.

The program put on by agri-cultural agents is presented on Fridays each week from 11:45 to 12 noon; the home agent pro-grams every Thursday from 10 a.m. until 10:15.

The value of the programs will be one factor which will de-termine whether the station will operate on a permanent basis. There are no commer-cials and at present broadcast-ing time is from 9 a.m. until 12 noon.

On Thursday, Nov. 11, Miss Schultz had a 4-H demon-stration team, Gerald and Suzy Switzer, presented an ironing demonstration. Her next ap-pearance is scheduled for Jan. 27 and Schmadeke's first ap-pearance will be Friday, Jan. 7.
