F. I. Rea Presented Rocking Chair by Consumer Friends

Fred I. Rea, who retired after 30 years as district manager of the Consumers Public Power company at Plattsmouth at the first of the year can now take to his rocking chair.

Monday night, he has a new one to break in. Every employee of the district chipped in on the platform rocker which was presented to Mr. Rea at a consumer-employee-sponsored dinner at the Lions Club building in Plattsmouth Monday night.

But there were other presents too.

R. L. Schacht, general manager for Consumers at Columbus, presented Mr. Rea with a personal gift of a pen and pencil set.

L. H. Lundin, personnel director at Columbus, presented Mr. Rea with a gold wrist watch inscribed as a gift from district managers.

M. M. Mehring, safety supervisor for Consumers, from Columbus, presented safe driver awards to the Plattsmouth district employees who operate company vehicles and a plaque to the district for having no lost time because of accidents.

If the district here has no lost time from accidents by July, 1955, it will be the completion of the 11th year without such an accident.

District employees who received safe driving awards, including all who operate vehicles, were Ernest Elliott, district manager; Tom Hanlon, sales supervisor; Charles Christensen, supervisor; William Highfield, Roy Cole, Darwin Gammell, and James Church.

Christmas Seal Sales Are Short In Cass County

"There is still $13,695.88 needed in the 1954 Christmas Seal Sale to reach the total of last year's sale," says Delmar R. Serafy, Executive Secretary of the Nebraska Tuberculosis Association. "Contributions are badly needed," he said.

"The fine support given thus far expresses the confidence the people of Nebraska have in their tuberculosis program; its curtailment would be a great loss to the state," Mr. Serafy added. "There is great need in the field of tuberculosis training for medical students and nurses and for other professional as well as the continued need for research; the ever-present need for payment of chest X-rays; and the need for tuberculosis education for all."

He reported that of the 121 agencies in Nebraska, 99 have returned their January 7 report. Forty-six have exceeded their last year's total and 13 have set a new record for this year. The Christmas Seal Sale in now totals $1,111.00 and is behind last year's sale by $117.75.

"All friends of the tuberculosis movement are urged to send in their contributions. It is never too late to receive them. Last year's sale for Nebraska can be exceeded if all who received Christmas Seals will pay for them," Mr. Serafy concluded.

Omaha Tops Run Of Cattle Marts

Dimes Dance Set For Omaha Jan. 30

"Dance that Others May Walk" — This motto marks the theme for the Third Annual Dimes campaign. The dance benefit dance for the March of Dimes sponsored by the Omaha Area Square Dance Callers Association, will be held January 30th at the Livestock Exchange Building in Omaha.

Over 25 callers from areas as far as 100 miles from Omaha as well as four orchestras will donate their services for the benefit dance. Both 10th floor ballrooms of the Livestock Exchange Building and the complete parking facilities of the Livestock Exchange, have been donated for the occasion by Mr. Harry B. Coffee, President of the Union Stock Yards Company.

All proceeds from the dance will be returned to the March of Dimes Chapters in the counties from which the contributors come. Over $700.00 was returned to the March of Dimes campaign in 1954. Crowds of between 800 and 900 dancers are expected to participate this year.

Anyone attending from Cass County should be certain to designate that he wishes his contribution returned to that chapter.
