A great statesman, former Prime Minister David Lloyd George of England, once said that in peace or war "King Coal is the paramount lord of the industry. It enters into every article of consumption and utility."

West Virginia coal production records go back to 1863 when the state's mines produced less than 500,000 tons. Since 1936, with the single exception of 1938, the State has produced more than 100,000,000 tons a year, to lead the nation.

Ticklers
By George

December Was Warmest Since '39—Bureau

December was warm and dry with many bright, sunny days with less wind movement and low humidity, making it the warmest December in Nebraska since 1939, says the United States Weather Bureau at Lincoln.

Mean temperatures averaged about 2 degrees above normal at some south-central stations to about 8 degrees above normal in the north-central portion.

The heaviest precipitation occurred over the northwestern and southeastern portions of the State. The central and northeastern portions were very dry.

The northwestern portion received light to moderate snow during the middle of the month. Light to moderate snow, which drifted very little, fell over the southern portion of the Panhandle and the southwestern portion of the State during the 26-27th. The total average precipitation for the 2-month period of November and December was the least of record for these two months since 1904, and was the second least of record.

Brief periods of moderately cold weather occurred at the beginning of the month in the west, and over most of the state during the last 3 days of the month. Low temperatures occurred on the 1st or 29th at most stations, and ranged from 14 degrees in the southeastern corner to 13 degrees at Curtis. The 22nd was the warmest day at most stations.

No damaging storms were reported.

The mild open weather was favorable for livestock. Feed lots were dry and firm. Stock cattle wintered well.

Wheat remained in good to excellent condition in these areas. The rain early in the month moistened the drying surface soil, and subsoil moisture remained plentiful.

The show of the 26-27th, which drifted very little, moistened the surface when it thawed later, but the subsoil remained very dry. The warm weather reduced more than average growth. More than the usual amount of field work was done. Some tillage was also done in the west to retard wind erosion.

CURIOSITY HURTS
EAST ST. LOUIS, ILL. — Glancing up to read a billboard urging traffic safety while driving through East St. Louis recently, Joseph Herbers, of St. Louis, banged into the rear of another auto. Happily, however, no one was injured.

WRONG STREET TORN UP
TULSA, OKLA. — Workmen of the Tulsa Street Department tore up 313 feet of a street because they were notified they had made a mistake. The men had the right street but the wrong block.
