The bride, who came down the center church aisle was dressed in sheer white, fashioned of imported french, hand-dipped lace and nylon tulle over satin. A sculptured bodice of lace was applied to a soft illusion yoke topped with a callily collar of lace. Longfitted sleeves formed bridal points at the wrists. The voluminous tulle skirt was overlaid with lace, which formed panniers on either side and continued completely around to cover the back, ending in a court train. Her double-tiered fingertip veil of English illusion hung from a tiny half hat of chantilly lace trimmed with tiny seed pearls. Her bridal bouquet was of yellow roses and stephanotis, encircling a white gardenia corsage, which was worn later by the bride to complement her going away costume. She wore a single strand of pearls a gift of the groom. The bride observed the lovely custom of "something old, new, borrowed and blue."

Miss LaRue chose for her daughters wedding a light blue tailored nylon with white accessories.

Mrs. Zanders, mother of the groom, wore a mauve pink gown of nylon mesh, with white accessories. Both mothers wore shoulder corsages of white carnations. Mrs. David LaRue, Omaha, Mrs. George Ellis, Weeping Water, grandmothers of the bride, and Mrs. Sadie Dunn Malvern, Ia., grandmother of the groom, were honored with white carnation shoulder corsages.

The pre-nuptial music was presented while the guests were being seated by Miss Kathryn M. Ellis, church organist, and aunt of the bride. Mr. Charles V. Wallick, uncle of the bride, sang "Because" prior to the ceremony and "The Lords Prayer" as the couple knelt at the altar at the close of the impressive rites. The professional and recreational music of tradition was used.

Identically styled yellow nylon net strapless gowns over matching color satin, with yellow tulle stoles were worn by the maid of honor, Miss Jacqueline Mullman of Perry, Ia., cousin of the bride, and by the bridesmaids, Mrs. Robert Lade of Falls City and Miss Donna Hill of Perical, Ia., friends of the bride. Colonial bouquets of white Esther Reid daisies centered with yellow daisies were carried by the attendants.

Taper lighters were Miss Dixie Zanders, sister of the groom, who was gowned in orchid organdy, and Miss Janet Christensen, Weeping Water, friend of the bride, who wore green organdy. White carnations which were later worn as corsages by the girls adorned the lighted tapers. Douglas Zanders, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Zanders of Malvern, Ia., and nephew of the groom carried the wedding rings on a white satin pillow, which as "something borrowed," had been used at the wedding of Mrs. Roger Richards, nee Evelyn Lauritzen. The ring bearers wore dark blue trousers with white coat and blue tie. His boutonniere was a deep blue carnation. Dan Zanders, brother of the groom, served as best man. Douglas Zanders and Dee Zanders also brothers of the groom and Raburn Denton friend of the groom served as ushers. The groom and his attendants were attired in dark blue suits, blue ties, with white carnation boutonnières. The grooms attendants were all from Malvern. Mrs. Bill Morris, Lincoln, cousin of the bride, greeted the guests and was in charge of the guest book.

Mrs. A. T. Wallick, Weeping Water, cousin of the bride, Mrs. Douglas Zanders, and Mrs. Roger Richards served at the gift table.

A reception was given in the church parlors immediately following the ceremony.

The lace covered table was centered by a 4-tiered wedding cake, decorated with white wedding bells and topped by the traditional "Bluebird of Happiness." Circling the cake were green fernery. Lighted triple candlesticks flanked the centerpiece. Cake, coffee, fruit punch, nuts and yellow and white mints were served.

Presiding hostesses at the refreshment table were Mrs. Don Zanders, Mrs. John Shore, Greeley Colo., cousin of the groom, and Miss Suzanne LaRue, cousin of the bride and both of Glenwood, Ia., and Miss Barbara Christensen, friend of the bride. All were under the supervision of Miss Jesse Baldwin.
