Devils Meet Lincoln Team Here Friday

Plattsmouth Blue Devils go against another Lincoln team here Friday night as Lincoln Teachers come in. The Devils will be against one of Lincoln's strongest teams.

Coach John Adkins of the Devils seems to have found two basketball teams on his squad about equally strong. He used both against Ralston last Friday and found they play with about the same strength.

The Devils, who play in two conferences, and who won none in the Twin Rivers loop, are leading the other, undefeated in the Ak-Sar-Ben conference.

The Devils lost to Lincoln Northeast in a game at Plattsmouth Jan. 27.

Other Cass county team games Friday:
Elmwood at Otoe.
Dunbar at Nehawka.
Adams at Weeping Water.
Avoca at Walton.

White Enrolled NU

LINCOLN — Billie White, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. J. White of Plattsmouth, is among the 295 new students enrolled at the University of Nebraska for the second semester.

Devil Freshmen Defeat Valley Easily, 57-29

Plattsmouth freshmen, and a few eighth graders, clipped visiting Valley here Wednesday afternoon by a score of 57 to 29.

The Junior Blue Devils will host Bellevue teams next Thursday afternoon at 3 p.m. Both freshmen and eighth grade teams will play.

Wednesday afternoon the Platters jumped off to a 14 to 4 lead at the end of the first quarter and were never in danger. By halftime the Devil team had a 26 to 11 lead and turned the game over to eighth graders in the third quarter before taking over again in the fourth.

Ten Plattsmouth players scored; 12 played.

Albert Dasher led Plattsmouth scoring with 20 points; Tom Winscot scored 13.

Score by quarters:

Plattsmouth	14	26	40	57
Valley	4	11	19	29

W.W. Indians Clip Sterling Team 62 to 59

STERLING—Weeping Water's Indians refused to be caught here Tuesday night after jumping off to 17-13 lead at the end of the first quarter. They went on to win the basketball game by a score of 62 to 59.

The Indians picked up a six-point lead by the end of the first half and held it to.

Chuck Stacey led Weeping Water scoring with 21 points as Bob Colbert contributed 16. Larry Schoene led Sterling with 19. Sterling seconds won 45 to 30 as Schmidt led the winner with 10 points. J. Saadhoff led WW reserves with 12 points.

Farm Hiring Day Scheduled Feb. 24 At Cass Courthouse

A "Farm Hiring Day" will be held in Plattsmouth on the afternoon of Friday, Feb. 24, Robert E. Powell, Cass county interviewer of the Nebraska State Employment Service, announced this week. The place will be Room 301, court house.

Hiring Days are occasions when farmers, who need farm hands, and farm hands seeking jobs have opportunities to discuss individually farm job openings and qualifications and to hire or hire out.

Hiring Days assist employers and job seekers to work out mutually satisfactory arrangements as to wages, housing, working conditions, commodities and other factors common to hiring.

Another purpose is to save time and travel for farmers and workers in providing a wider opportunity to sample the job and applicant situation.

"This type of hiring plan has been used satisfactorily at other Nebraska points," Powell said. "We hope to have a good balance between the numbers of employers and job seekers present to ensure success of the local Hiring Day."

Palmyra Hustle Hits Elmwood, Losers 59-46

ELMWOOD — The Elmwood high school Pirates bowed to visiting Palmyra here Tuesday night by a score of 59 to 46.

The Pirates held the lead at the end of the first quarter, 12-8, but lost it by halftime and never regained it. Leading 24 to 21 at halftime, Palmyra ran up their lead to 10 points by the end of three quarters.

Jerry Backemeyer led Elmwood with 14 points. Mike Roach had 20 to lead Palmyra.

Inability to control the rebounds in spite of a marked height advantage was no help to the Elmwood five who let the Palmyra crew out-hustle them.

A flurry of scoring brought the Pirates within six points by the middle of the fourth quarter but Palmyra picked up their lead again with 11 out of 13 free throws.

Watch Warm Ice Warning From Experts

CHICAGO — Did you know that there is warm ice as well as cold ice?

Well, there is, and knowing it may save your life, the National Safety Council pointed out today.

Warm ice is a lot more slippery than cold ice, and greatly increases the hazards of winter driving unless you are using reinforced tire chains, the Council has found in actual skid tests on frozen lakes.

An ice cube when first taken from the freezer tray feels slightly sticky, but the warmth of your hand quickly melts the surface and it becomes slippery. The Council says the same thing occurs on road ice or glazed snow when it is warmed by a daytime rise in temperature, a brief period of sunshine, or heavy traffic.

Such unexpected changes in the slipperiness of ice is the basic cause of many winter accidents, the Council believes.

Council tests show this relationship of temperature and traction: at 20 m.p.h. a car with regular tires skidded 114 feet at zero degrees, 155 feet at 10 degrees, 195 feet at 20 degrees, and a whopping 235 feet at 30 degrees (just below freezing).

Reinforced tire chains stopped the test cars in 77 feet on glare ice, and this distance was not affected by changes in temperature.

Temperature is most important whether you live in the northern or southern edge of the snow belt, according to the Council. While drivers in the north have to contend with more snow, they also get lower temperatures and consequently better traction. Drivers on the southern edge of the snow belt meet more changeable conditions with intermittent freezing and thawing.

Wherever you live, the Council urges drivers to stay aware of the changing characteristics of ice. Check the "feel" of the road at every safe opportunity and adjust your speed accordingly.
