School Notes

Future Homemakers of America had a regular monthly meeting at the Home Economics house Wednesday, Feb. 8. The discussion topic was home, school and community beautification. This is one of the new national projects this year. Janet Schroeder and Rosie Stoll had charge of the program. Roll call was "What We Can Do For Community Beautification". Kay Dodson gave the devotions and reported on qualifications for an honor chapter. The girls drew names for secret heart valentines exchange for their party Wednesday. Caroline Miller and Mary Lou Coster served refreshments.

The girls reported on their chili supper held Feb. 4 at the Home Economics house. The home rooms were decorated with valentines. One-hundred-twenty-five attended and the chapter mothers assisted the girls. The girls enjoyed the project and appreciated the patronage of the community. The money earned will be used to send some of the girls to the workshop at Crete in June and possibly to the national convention in Chicago.
