Columbian P-T.A.
Dinner Attended
By 150 Parents

Columbian school P-T. A. at Plattsmouth got a good start toward buying some new curtains for the school Tuesday night when they put on a covered-dish dinner at the Central school cafeteria and netted $73.75. Mrs. Howard Ruback, in charge of the event, said the P-T.A. wants to raise about $200 to buy drapes that will last and keep the light out of the kindergarten room where movies are shown and for guard against the sun.

About 150 persons attended the affair Tuesday evening.

The Plattsmouth Band Parents club loaned a coffee maker and the Central school its cafeteria.

Children of Columbian school gave a program following the dinner under direction of the teachers — Nancy Tritsch, Joyce Eikenbary, Donna Hill, Marilyn Stoehr and Patricia LaRue Zander. Valentine Day, George Washington's and Abraham Lincoln's birthdays were in the theme.

On the committee with Mrs. Ruback were Mrs. Clark Finney, Mrs. Ambrose Claus, Mrs. Bob

DEATH Rode with WASHINGTON
that Wintry Day!

"Let it go as it came"—said Washington of a cold and he rode forth into a snowstorm. Three days later the Father of his country was dead of complications arising from the cold he shrugged off but couldn't shake off. Here is an historical lesson in the dangers of treating even a light cold lightly. If you should catch a cold, take care of it at once. A cold that "hangs on," or one that is accompanied by chills and fever, is serious enough to require the attention of your doctor. Call him without undue delay.
