Perfume That Clings

PENNY: I've just made the most sensational discovery! Houbigant Chantilly Liquid Skin Sachet—a creamy pink perfume that really clings.

SALLY: Smells divine. But what makes it cling?

PENNY: It's Chantilly perfume that makes it smell so heavenly, and the sachet that makes it cling. You put it right on your skin, and no where else.

SALLY: But don't you have to use an awful lot to make it last like that?

PENNY: Not this! Just a few drops cling for hours. You really owe it to yourself to try it. It's real perfume for only $1.85 plus tax at (store name).

Bible Comment: Paul's Letters Reveal His Philosophy

WE have no formal biographies of the great apostles and leaders in the first generation of the Christian church. It is interesting that, on the whole, we know more about Paul than we do about any of the original 12 apostles. We are fortunate in having the letters. They tell us more about Paul than the formal facts of his life and career as they are recorded in the Book of the Acts.

In the passages by Paul, we have an indication of the intimate relationship he maintained with the churches and with the disciples.

Apparently there were two attitudes on the part of these disciples. Some there were whose loyalty to Paul was so intense that there was a danger of their religion making them disciples of Paul rather than disciples of Christ.

Others were inclined to be critical of Paul and to adhere more closely to other preachers or leaders who had come into the church.

Paul found it necessary to remind both these classes of disciples that their primary allegiance was to Jesus Christ, that their faith should not stand in Paul or in any other man, but in their Master.

He was insistent upon maintaining his integrity as a preacher of the Gospel. He had received his commission, not from man but from the Lord Jesus.

His counsel to Timothy is advice that any young man who would follow the Christian life might well take to heart.
