By Mrs. Dudley Leavitt
Tel. 42447

ELMWOOD (Special) — The Elmwood Senior Class of 1956 presented its play at the community building in Elmwood Friday to a well filled house.

Mumbo-Jumbo, a mystery farce in three acts was directed by Supt. Clarence Souček.

The action of the entire play takes place in the living room of Cherry Tree Farm, the summer home of the Reynolds in New England. The time is June.

The characters, Mrs. Sarah Reynolds (Shara Doeble) and John, her husband (Charles Nickel) are about to start on a vacation trip in the opening act as their son Dick Reynolds (Dave Godbey) appears from college, with his pal, Pee Wee Smith (Duarte Ahrens) much to the surprise of his parents.

They go on their trip anyway, and leave the son to take care of the home. They are both without money and plan to obtain some by renting some rooms to passers by. With the help of Tweety, a hired girl, (Joyce Miller) they succeed in gathering a varied type of guests.

Honahan, a state policeman (Dale Lannin) calls for the arrest of Dick for driving without a permit. Harold Custer, a very polite young man (Ron Abrams), and Mrs. Custer, his aged mother (Marilyn Mendenhall) and Mr. Peter Beamish, a blind man (Donna Miller) come to stay because of a thunder storm.

Doctor Gaza Omahanda a west Indian mystic (Norm Brockhoff) and Kay Samed, his ward, (Carolyn Spohn) also arrive. Madame Celesta, a native witch woman, (Mary Jucka) are also in their party.

Peaches Greeding, a chorus girl, (Sharon Phillips) is the first victim of the Mumbo-Jumbo "death charm."

The guests call for the police, and Lem Marblehead, sheriff of Milburn, (Elmer Mueller), and Miss Emma Burpee, sheriff of Hope County, (Jean Bornemeir) arrives with her then year-old daughter, "Daisy," played by Marilyn Laughlin. Daisy in her childish investigations unearths the clues that help solve the murders.

The entire cast was very capably portrayed. Dave Godbey had quite a part, but his memory served him well as he made no hesitation between action. The character parts were well rendered.

The Senior Girls Triple Trio sang "Moonlight Bay" during intermission. Sound effects were produced by Duane Krecklow and Royal Halverson. Ushers were Jerry Backemeyer, Bob Rueter, Bob Hall, Sandra Drake, Betty Drake and Sharon Abrams, all juniors.

Supt. Souček evidently gave many hours of his time to this production to obtain the results given. Coach Marvin Greenwood and Miss Jo Ann Hagemester contributed to the make-up and received the thanks of the director for their cooperation.

PAUL KRUGER

Republican for CONGRESS (2nd Dist.)

PAUL KRUGER of Ft. Calhoun is a lifetime farmer. He knows the Farm Problem. Here is Kruger's Farm Platform:

There is no quick way out of the chaotic condition in agriculture. I am for the appointment of a Non-partisan Agricultural Stabilization Board to promote such measures as the Soil Bank, and the reduction of farm surpluses. I advocate a strong program of agricultural research to promote the use of farm surpluses in industry. Such a program will give rise to a steadily increased income for farmers with a minimum of socialistic controls.
