Announcements were made by Carolyn Spohn. She introduced her parents and presented them with flowers. She also introduced her sister, her grandparents, and other relatives.

Mrs. Hobson, Mother Advisor, made the presentations of the merit bars earned.

Sharon Abrams sang a solo, "Golden Day" at the closing.

Following the retiring march, the officers formed a reception line in the basement dining room. Members of the choir helped with the serving at the reception which was given by Mr. and Mrs. LaMoyné Spohn in honor of their daughter, Carolyn, and the other officers.

Beautiful garden flowers served as decorations. The serving table was centered with a lovely rainbow arrangement of flowers and candles. Mrs. Dorothy Miller and Mrs. Oria Pratt presided at the table. Other Elmwood friends assisted with the serving.

Deroy Harshman Is Top Scholar of Graduating Class

WEeping WATER (Special)—Commencement exercises were held May 22 in the High School Auditorium for the 1956 graduating seniors of Weeping Water High School.

Dr. A. Leland Forrest, chancellor of Nebraska Wesleyan University, was the featured speaker of the evening. His topic was "You Can Take It With You."

Deroy Harshman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wilmer Harshman, was named the top scholar of the 1956 graduating class. He was valedictorian of the class and has accepted a scholarship from the Nebraska Teachers Colleges.

Norman Petersen, son of Dr. and Mrs. A. C. Petersen, was named salutatorian of the class, and accepted a scholarship from the Nebraska Church Colleges. The winner of the Regents Scholarship from the University of Nebraska was Wally Ludwick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Ludwick. Superintendent Thomsen gave a brief talk on this class.

DROUGHT
Albert W. Cook, chief meteorologist, stationed at Denver, Colorado, has predicted that the current drought cycle gripping the Great Plains area will not end until about 1956. Cook predicted the future will bring gradually increased amounts of precipitation. He said the drought cycle reached its low ebb in 1954.

ACCIDENTS

Industry is greatly concerned about the cost of injuries at work, which, in 1954, amounted to 230,000,000 man-days lost. Of this amount, only 40,000,000 was attributed to the injured. The other 190,000,000 man-days were lost by workers who stopped to help the injured or discuss the accident; lost efficiency due to seeing a serious accident; and inability to work because of damaged equipment of structures.
