

Rev. Theodore Kampman Unites Daughter, Alice Elizabeth, And James E. Batt in Marriage

For the marriage of Miss Alice Elizabeth Kampman, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Theodore H. Kampman, Elmwood, and James E. Batt, son of Mr. and Mrs. William Batt, Lincoln, on Sunday afternoon, lighted candles and blue and white flowers appointed the chancel of the Emanuel Evangelical United Brethren Church near Murdock.

The four o'clock ceremony was solemnized by the bride's father who gave her in marriage then performed the ceremony, which included giving of communion to the couple.

The bride was escorted to the altar by Bruce Morrison, Omaha, cousin of the bride's mother.

Miss Joann Backemeyer played the wedding music, and also accompanied the soloist, Dr. Glen Knosp.

Miss Merwinna Kampman, sister of the bride, was the maid of honor, and Miss Clarissa Meyer of Omaha the bridesmaid. Both wore identically styled heaven-blue lace and tulle frocks, sculptured bodice on dance length skirts of ruffled tulle. Miss Kampman carried a colonial bouquet of white feathered carnations, centered with pink sweetheart roses, and Miss Meyers bouquet was of yellow feathered carnations.

Miss Linda Kay Batt, and Miss Carol Sue Batt, sisters of the bridegroom, were the candlelighters and wore blue satin choir robes.

Donald Batt, of Lincoln, served his brother as best man, and ushers were Gary Batt, also a brother of the bridegroom, Joseph Kelley and Roger Drake all of Lincoln.

The bride wore a gown of French blue organza taffeta, fashioned in the princess mode, with a shoulder wide neckline with brief-sleeved bodice. The wide bouffante skirt, danseuse length had a deep flounce which accented the fullness. Her double-tered veil was of imported French blue silk illusion, and held to the head with a jeweled coronet. Her mitts were elbow length. She carried a white Bible with streamers marked with pink sweetheart roses. Her only ornament was a strand of baby pearls, a gift of the bridegroom's parents.

A reception was held afterwards in the parlors of the St. Paul Evangelical United Brethren Church in Elmwood.

The parlors were beautifully decorated with three gift tables draped with white and pink festoons with lilies of the valley. The serving table was centered with American beauty roses, and mock orange blossoms.

Mrs. Bruce Morrison, Omaha, cut the cake; Mrs. Betty Patton poured the coffee, and Margaret Vogt poured the punch. Dainty sandwiches, nuts and mints were also served.

Miss Lila Oehlerking had charge of the guest book. Dorothea Jean Brokchage, Mrs. Merle Buell and Mrs. James Miller, Omaha, had charge of the gift tables. Also assisting in serving: Anna Backemeyer, Alice Bornemeier, Mrs. Chester Bornemeier, Mrs. Eldon Oehlerking, Mrs. Herbert Oehlerking, Edna Leuchens, Donna Rueter, Marie Schweppe, Mrs. William Vogt, Jr., and Mrs. Lloyd Vogt, Mrs. Howard Leutchens and Mrs. William Vogt, Sr.

There were over 300 invitations to the wedding, which included many out of town guests.

After a short honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Batt will reside at 5118 Colby St., Lincoln.

Robert R. Patton Funeral Is Held

Funeral services for Robert R. Patton were held Friday at Sattler Funeral Home, George M. Greer of Omaha officiated. Bearers were Ed Baumgart, Albert Cotner, Emil Koukal, Ed Tschiren, Claude Hutchison and Milton Uhe.

Music was provided by Richard Cole, soloist, accompanied by Mrs. Sherman Cole.
