pany and often they are lodged at the home of friends-or of friends' friends.

In fact, they stayed at the home of Margaret Mauzy here Monday night.

The girls are friends of Mrs. Peggy Vroman of Park Forest, Ill., who is a niece of Miss Mauzy and Mrs. Minta Todd of Plattsmouth.

The girls have met with surprisingly few difficulties, so far. They have had one flat tire and a little trouble with the gears on one bicycle.

Outside of this, their problems were restricted to pedalling up mountain roads in Pennsylvania.

They plan to pedal the entire distance except for the trip across the Mohave Desert.

They will return by train.

We asked them one final question before letting them return to their pedalling:
"What one thing has delayed you the most on your trip?"
"Press interviews," they cried simultaneously.

Misfortune May Soon Come to an End
from an aggravated stomach wound.

Two weeks previous he had been playing at the home of relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Kief, while his mother was running back and forth from the hospital to her home and to the Fulton home. Roger with his cousins was hammering steel with a sledge hammer when a piece of steel flew and embedded in his stomach. The wound was cared for by the relatives and appeared healed, but Roger was taken for a check-up on one of the mother's trips to the doctor office—just in case this streak of bad luck was chasing Mrs. Roberts.

The piece of steel was removed from the stomach area and this is one patient Mrs. Roberts brought home with her.

How is she standing up under all this? Mrs. Roberts, a frequent book reviewer, says she thinks she'll write a story "The Hospital and Me."
