NEW COMET

In late April and early May, a bright new comet will be visible to the naked eye at zero magnitude—one of the most brilliant objects in the sky at that time. Comet Arend-Roland, first discovered on November 8, 1956, will be seen in the Southern Hemisphere before dawn during the first half of April but persons in the Northern Hemisphere will not be able to see it until the end of April and the beginning of May, after sunset. During the last part of April it will appear very low in the northwest after sunset.
