

Weeping Water Garden Club Has Scenic Tours After Picnic

WEeping Water (Special)—The Weeping Water Garden Club met for a dinner Sunday at Steinharts Park at Nebraska City. Miss Imo Heebner a member who works in Nebraska City had made reservations for the 16 members and they were seated at one long table centered by a large bouquet of beautiful peonies.

Our first stop was at Granville Heebner's where the rear picnic area was surrounded with new plantings of red roses and established peonies in various shades. Then on to John Reed's where choice iris and peonies bloomed profusely.

The Arthur Whyte home next was a delight to flower and bird lovers. The many wooded sections with all varieties of ferns and lillies and suddenly a sunny section would burst into view filled with blooming roses; peonies; exotic poppies and all varieties of flowers.

At the Oscar Wurtelle's beautiful new home the outdoor living quarters were beautifully landscaped where many new shrubs and outdoor furniture, especially a bench with mosaic pattern in glass imbedded in the cement attracted our attention. The Elmer Conkling home was another beautifully shaded area with many fine pin oaks and unusual trees and a lovely pool. The garden was terraced in 3 levels. The very charming hosts were found to be distant relatives of the Harmon's.

The next home visited was Mrs. Marie Neal just across from Arbor Lodge. We have long admired the setting and it was a privilege to be taken on a tour by her into the private garden in the rear which was breathtaking in its expanse. The bordered bath was lined with peonies and bearded iris, all Sass specialties and a number of brilliant and rare perennials. There were more varieties of spruce trees, all expertly landscaped by Mrs. Neal. The outdoor living quarters was the favorite of the men.

Then on to the Clair Cushing home where more peonies, iris and roses were predominant. The last visit was to neighbors of Miss Heebner; the Ray Duncans' the fine roses were in abundance and Mrs. Catrons spacious lawn which was beautifully landscaped. Our last stop was at the home of Miss Heebner where she served us ice cream, cake, cookies, leed tea and mints. The president, Mrs. S. H. Harmon, called for a short meeting and read the invitation from the Avoca Garden Club to their Flower Show.

She presented a gift to the Earl Cook's from the club. They are moving to Beatrice next week and extended invitations to the club and told us how much they had enjoyed our meetings.

Mrs. Harmon also wished the Jensen's bon-voyage on their trip abroad from the Club. She also thanked Miss Heebner for her hospitality and arrangement of the entire tour. The Club members agreed that this was the highlight of our Garden Club meetings.

Those present were Mr and Mrs. Ralph Keckler and Bob; Mrs. Mata Amick; Mrs. Edith Wilkinsen; Mrs. Emily Olive; Mr. and Mrs. Sievald Jensen; Mr. and Mrs. Don Rutledge and David; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cook; Mr. and Mrs. S. H. Harmon and the hostess Miss Imo Heebner.
