Another School Merger Looms In Ashland Area

The second school merger in western Cass County with Ashland school district No. 1, seems to be nearer this week with the submission from the majority of patrons of school district No. 49. The petition asks that the district be merged with Saunders county district No. 1.

District No. 49 is the next district east of the former Greenwood district. Cass county districts 35 and 82 lie between it and district No. 1, which is the southeasternmost district in Saunders county and now includes former district 36 (Greenwood) as well.

District No. 49 has not been operative for some years and its students have all attended school in Ashland.

Hearing on the petition regarding district No. 49 will be heard at the courthouse in Wahoo on July 8 at 2 p. m.
