Toddlers Cupboard, Art Care and "Stew for Two"

To keep little ones out of cupboard shelves, place a small bookcase in the kitchen for them. Stock it with smaller canned foods, an old coffee pot, old pans. Keeps them busy as bees... and out of your cupboard.

Paintings are Precious

Never, please, use oil, soap or strong household cleaners on a painting. Don't even try to clean a painting unless you have received directions from an art store. Neglect does less harm than inexpert treatment.

Set The Mood

Here's an extra tip for your 15-minute afternoon break. Turn on the phonograph or radio. Find soothing, restful music... preferably classical with no vocal. Put you in a lovely frame of mind for the evening.

Out Driving This Summer...

You're almost certain to see some of the ways that say "Northern Natural Gas Company." These are compressor stations that clean, compress and cool natural gas and then send it through the pipelines on its way to your town and your local gas company. These stations are a vital link in the transmission of clean, dependable natural gas from the field to your local gas company.

Especially for Two...

a recipe sent us by Elvina Fahreng of Bol'grave, Minn., called "Stew for Two": Brown 1/2 lb. veal (cut up for stew) in 1 tbsp. fat. Add 1 cup water and stir well to take up all the "brown" in the bottom of skillet. Now add 1 large green pepper cut small, 1 small chopped onion, 2 large fresh cubed tomatoes, and 2 large cubed potatoes. Simmer over low heat on top of your gas range one hour. Season as you wish: salt, pepper, a bit of chili powder, or you may prefer herbs.

Traut-Johnson Vows Exchanged At First Lutheran Church Here

The First Lutheran Church in Plattsmouth was the scene July 7th of the wedding of Shirley Traut, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Traut, Plattsmouth, and Mr. Jack Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Johnson, also of this city.

The three o'clock ceremony was performed by the Reverend Carlton Spatsek, pastor of the church, before one hundred guests.

Gladioli and white carnations appointed the altar for the ceremony. Soloist John Traut of Lincoln sang "O Perfect Love" and "The Lord's Prayer", accompanied by Mrs. Al Huebner at the organ.

The bride's gown was of imported rosepoint lace over slipper satin, fashioned with a molded bodice, featuring an illusion yoke with a Queen Elizabeth collar and long sleeves tapering to a deep point over the hand. Tiny lace buttons fastened the gown at the back. The very full bouffant skirt with tier upon tier of scalloped rosepoint ruffles from waist to hem fell into a graceful chapel train. Her fingertip veil was designed and fashioned by her mother and was made of imported French illusion, held with a coronet of tiny imported seed pearls and encircled with larger teardrop pearls. She carried a bouquet of red roses.

Mrs. Duane Traut, matron of honor, wore a floor length gown of Nile green net with matching headpiece. She carried a colonial bouquet of green carnations.

The bridesmaid, Miss Juanita Campbell, chose a floor length frock of pastel yellow net with matching headpiece and carried a colonial bouquet of yellow carnations.

In charge of the guest book was Miss Nancy Holman and at the gift table was Miss Carol Robbins and Miss Connie Woolhiser, both of Louisville.

Beauty From India To Top All Glamour

If a poll of Hollywood professionals and technicians were taken on the most unique personality discovery of the past year the majority vote would undoubtedly go to Anna Kashfi, who co-stars with Rock Hudson in "Battle Hymn," the Universal International picture in Technicolor and CinemaScope playing at the Cass Theatre, Sun., Mon., and Tues., July 21, 22 and 23.

Born in Calcutta, India, and educated in a French convent in Darjeeling, this exotic beauty speaks flawless English in addition to seven other languages.

At 22 she has lived in London, Paris and Rome, and has traveled around the world and has that arresting type of glamour which causes all conversation in a restaurant to stop when she enters.

That occurred regularly in the U-I commissary while she was working at the studio in "Battle Hymn." This was her second American film, the first having been "The Mountain," yet she caused a bigger stir each day than any other of the many glamour girls who have eaten at that commissary.

Foreign trade is giving all year, with prices still climbing.
