George McGraw Back Home From Greenland After Six Months

Friday evening George McGraw of this city returned home after six months in the far north being engaged in construction work in Greenland.

McGraw reports that the season for work this year was much better than experienced in the past, there being less of the intense winds that have swept over the ice and caused loss of work time. The temperature however was ranging a part of the time from twenty to thirty below zero, but the men are well equipped for the intense cold and were able to carry on as usual.

There were 1,600 men engaged on the job in that section of Greenland and the work has progressed in fine shape for the short season that is enjoyed in that section of the world.

Mr. McGraw has about decided that the job has taken him too far from home and that in the future he will engage in other activities here in the States.

"ALMOST, BUT NOT ENOUGH" is our verdict on how close competitive cars have come to matching the Swept-Wing '58. Take style. Other new cars are "almost" as low in inches, but still seem high and boxy in looks. Some of them are "almost" going to fins, but not enough to really make a difference. Then take performance. None of the other 1958 cars have anything to match the sway-free, dip-free, vibration-free ride of Torsion-Aire. (It's standard equipment.) Most of them still don't even have push-button driving! So after you've seen the "almost" cars, come in and drive a Swept-Wing '58. You'll see why we say: They're catching on, but they can't catch up.
