

Red Cedars Make A Good Windbreak

If you're planting a windbreak this spring and red cedar trees are unavailable, leave the rows open and plan to fill them with red cedars next year.

That's the advice of Karl Loerch, extension forester at the University of Nebraska College of Agriculture. Loerch says that in a windbreak there is no substitute for red cedars capable of giving the density and compactness needed.

"The sunny outlook for red cedars next year is favorable," Loerch said. "On this basis, the delay in completely establishing a windbreak would probably be worthwhile."

Lake Trout Are Stocked

PARKS, Neb. — An unprecedented stocking of 135,000 Kokanee, or landlocked salmon, was reported by the Nebraska Game Commission. The Kokanee fry were released in Ogallala lake, below the dam at McCaughy reservoir and in Lonerain Creek, Otter Creek and the state lake in Dundy County.

The Kokanee, a native of the Pacific Northwest, is famed for its eating qualities as well as its value as a game fish. Not a particularly large fish, it may on occasion attain a weight of five pounds.

Glen R. Foster, fisheries chief, said the critical factor in Nebraska is water temperature.

"The salmon is most happy when water temperature is in the lower 60's," Foster reported, "and the upper 70's are about the limit it can tolerate."

All of the stocked Kokanee were hatched at the state fish hatchery here. The eggs had been imported from Colorado.

PROCLAMATION

WHEREAS the wise use of natural resources — soils, waters, forests, grasslands, minerals and wildlife — is essential to the welfare and security of the individual, community, state and nation, and

WHEREAS the week of March 16 through 22 is being observed across the nation as National Wildlife Week, a time for expressing national interest in conservation and for stimulating greater public concern for the pressing problems of natural resource management, and

WHEREAS this public land system provides a large part of the nation's recreational opportunity, offering the benefits of unparalleled scenery and many outdoor activities, as well as vast stores of timber, minerals, grazing lands and water that are vital to the economic well-being of the country.

NOW, THEREFORE, the week of March 16 through 22, 1958 is hereby proclaimed as National Wildlife Week in the City of Plattsmouth, Nebraska. All citizens are urged to acquaint themselves with their public land heritage, and to give particular support to programs for the protection and wise management of this resource so that its multifold benefits will be perpetuated for the America of tomorrow.

Murdock Wins Cass Volleyball

The Cass County Volleyball tournament was won by Murdock as they defeated Avoca in a close game, 18-15. First half score was Murdock 8, Avoca 5. Elmwood pulled ahead of Louisville to take third, 22-16. Alvo made good on a first half lead to beat Weeping Water, 28-12, for the consolation trophy. This may be the last year the old rules will be used in the County Tournament. New rules require 6 players with one hit for a volley, a tourney official said.

Local Youth On U Of N Committee

LINCOLN — Roger Wehrbel of Plattsmouth was recently selected assistant chairman of the parade committee for Spring Day at the University of Nebraska. Roger, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Wehrbel, is a sophomore in the College of Agriculture at the University. He is a board member of Builders, University student service organization.

Louisville Has Paving Hearing

LOUISVILLE — The Village Board met in a special session to hear the opinions and objections of 32 resident lot owners and representatives of the Missouri Pacific and Burlington railroads on the hearing on paving assessments last Tuesday evening at the City Hall. Representatives of the engineers were present to answer questions. They made note of the objections which were brought up. Most of the questions concerned drainage problems.

For the most part, the group seemed pretty satisfied with the work and assessments and the clerk will now be able to proceed with the book work on the case. The clerk has the schedule on file in his office at the Home State Bank and those wishing to pay their assessments may now do so.

Ronald Christensen President Of Iowa State Debaters

Ronald Christensen, a senior in electrical engineering, has been named president of the Iowa State Debaters. He received letters in debate both of his past two years at Iowa State as well as previously earning membership in the Quintillion Club (good men speaking well) at Mason City High School.

While in high school, he was offered a scholarship to ISTC for ranking among the top nine in the Brindley Speech tournament. Since he has been at Iowa State, he has received awards in debate, contest discussion, and extemporaneous speaking. He is presently vice president of Delta Sigma Rho (debate and oratory honorary).

Ronald is editor of the Iowa Engineer, executive editor of the Iowa State Star, a member and past chairman of the board of directors of the Bomb (the college yearbook) and past editor of the Whispering Sands of Arcadia Fraternity.

Recipient of a Des Moines Register and Tribune scholarship award, he also writes for sketch, the college literary magazine.

Ronald is the son of the former Elinor Smetana of this city and is the grandson of Mrs. Mary Smetana of Plattsmouth.

Mr. and Mrs. Mitchell Rich and daughters Iola and Irene drove to Underwood, Iowa, on Saturday to attend a family dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McQuin and family. The dinner was in honor of the daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Rich who were having birthdays on March 19.

John McQuin of Omaha delivered a very fine sermon at the Methodist church last Sunday morning. Our pulpit is being supplied with a visiting layman or minister each Sunday while our pastor, Rev. DeSpain, is ill. Betty True, Carroll Attebery and Sammy Carneal sang a special number.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Todd Jr. at St. Mary's hospital March 9. She has been named Beverly Jean and weighed 8 pounds. The Todds have another daughter, Jane.

Plans are being made by the Baptist and Methodist Young People's Societies to have an early Easter morning service at the Methodist church followed by breakfast.

The War Dads Auxiliary entertained the War Dads with a covered dish luncheon last Tuesday evening at the Legion Hall. Thirty-five attended this enjoyable affair observing the National Birthday of the War Dads.

January, February and March birthdays were honored with birthday cakes. Reports were given as follows: Mary Gobelman, music; Violet Attebery, civil defense; Louise Becard, membership; Violet Attebery, working duties of Red Cross.

Auxiliary voted to buy music for Veterans Hospital in Omaha. Donations were made for view-master education fund, Seeds for Peace and Books for Peace. The Auxiliary voted to sponsor the Camp Fire Group with Mrs. E. W. Zorn as leader and Mrs. Whipple and Mrs. Becard to assist her.

The next meeting will be on April 9 with Mrs. Roy Mullis and Mrs. Leo Roddy as hostesses.

Tuesday evening's luncheon hostesses were Mrs. Charles Meredith and Mrs. Earl Zorn.

Mrs. L. B. Mougey and Mrs. Richard Mougey were hostesses last Thursday afternoon for the meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service with 18 members present. The meeting was opened with a short prayer group service conducted by Mrs. Todd. A short business period was conducted by the president.

Plans were discussed for the next meeting to be held March 27 in which the Baptist ladies will be guests of the Society.

The lesson told of the outstanding work of the medical missionaries in India and elsewhere.

Mrs. Veri Ackley read an article, "Methodists on the March." The Society will help with the Easter breakfast on Easter morning. Hostesses served donuts and coffee at the close of the service.

Protect Our Public Lands!

National Wild Life Week -- March 16-22 1958

As America's population increases, it is important that we, as citizens, insist that areas of Public Lands be set aside and managed for the recreation of the public as a whole.

Unless this is done, the children of city dwellers may know nothing of wildlife save what they read in books and see in the zoo.

Areas, set aside for hunting, fishing and other recreational activities, are important in developing future citizens.

Let's all work together to make sure that lands best suited for public recreation be set aside and maintained for that purpose that we and our children may enjoy the wonders of Public Lands in their natural state.

You can help — Buy Wildlife Stamps every year.
