Bow-and-Arrow Angling April 1

April 1st may be April Fool's Day to many persons, but to Nebraska's growing army of archery enthusiasts it is of even more significance, for it marks the beginning of the state's bow-and-arrow season on nongame fish. The arrow shooting continues to Dec. 1, from sunrise to sunset.

In Nebraska, only the long bow, drawn by hand, is legal. The use of the crossbow or similar device is unlawful. Nongame fish include buffalo, carp, gar, quillback and sucker.
