Plan Summer Vacation For Child

Mothers know youngsters seldom find the summer vacation quite as entrancing as they expected it to be. After spending three-quarters of the year in organized school routine, an aimless period of unplanned freedom is bound to pall on them.

Now's the time to interest them in a worthwhile program which will give them a sense of personal accomplishment, teach them self-discipline and awaken an interest in an exciting hobby . . . gardening. With a little help from Mother and Dad to get them started, raising a garden of their own can be a most rewarding summer experience.

If you have a dollar and cents child, who approaches life from a strictly practical standpoint, he'll want to plant a vegetable garden. One fifteen cent packet of vegetable seed can produce over five dollars worth of vegetables. Raising a garden for fun and having it turn into a money-making proposition can open up a whole new world to a child in the intrinsic value of physical endeavor.

For the child who responds esthetically to the world around him, a flower garden is the answer. The delicate colors of the flowers he raises, the perfect forms and the fragrant scents, will heighten his appreciation of the beauty of Nature. These first experiences in his own flower garden will remain with him all of his life.

Legion Nominates New Officers For The Ensuing Year

Thursday evening the members of Hugh J. Kearns post No. 56, American Legion held their regular meeting at the 40 & 8 club rooms with a pleasing number present for the session.

One of the highlights of the meeting was that a committee of the Cass County Historical Society was present to present to the body the matter of securing the Legion building and adding a second story as was a part of the original plans when the building was first proposed back in the late twenties.

The committee of the historical society included Martin Sporer, president, Miss Barbara Gering, H. B. Hutchman and Miss Mary Bookmeyer. Miss Bookmeyer served as the speaker for the committee. It was proposed that if possible, the building be secured, and the second story added to the present structure to provide a Cass county historical building where it would be possible to bring the collection of papers, old trophies of the past history of the county, for a permanent home. The society would not interfere with any present commitments as to the building, it would remain as a memorial to the veterans of the wars.

The Legion voted that a committee be appointed by the commander to meet with the Historical Society to see if some satisfactory plan could be worked out for the addition of a second story.

Commander Arthur Warga named as members of the Legion committee to confer with the Historical Society, E. O. Vroman, chairman, Fred Lugsch, Leslie W. Niel, James F. Begley and Alvin Linder.

The membership took up the matter of the nomination of post officers for the ensuing year of 1959. For the office of post commander, Merlin Joachimssen, one of the active world war II members was nominated as was Lloyd Fitch, one of the well known veterans of the city was placed in nomination.

For the post of vice-commanders Boyd Linder and James Milor were nominated for first vice-commander while for second vice-commander Dean Patton and Merle Dean Meisinger were chosen.

As members of the executive committee W. H. Schmidtman, E. O. Vroman, Fred Lugsch, Alvin Linder, James F. Begley, Eugene Krings, Albert Olson, Fred Feldhausen, Orville Julian, Lloyd Fitch, Fred Herbster, Arthur Warga was nominated.
