Low Calories, Tasty Tidbits and Packing for a Vacation

I'm amazed; white meat of chicken or turkey has fewer calories than dark meat. Maybe you always like that part best anyway.

Sit-Down Mixing

Saw a kitchen after my own heart! Its owner set aside just enough space between her gas refrigerator and her first kitchen cabinet for knee-room, then extended the kitchen counter right to the refrigerator. She keeps a stool beneath the counter, so she can sit down while using her mixer, copying recipes and cutting up vegetables.

Tea Time Tasty

Do revise the good old "afternoon tea" custom this summer. You can do it on the spur of the moment. Mix up frozen fruit juice; serve it with the spread that made Mrs. Don C. Nelson of Tekamah, Neb., famous: Cream 1/4 cup butter with 2 tsp. lemon juice and a quarter of the lemon rind, grated. Spread the tasty mixture on salty wheat crackers.

Vacation-Packing

Going off for a week, or a week-end? Pack your suitcase, "from the bottom up." Put heavy items in first, light items on top. Use every inch of space, but don't tuck "crushables" into small corners. Stockings, and gloves can be put into shoes for a safe, efficient ride.

Out of Gas

You may "run out of gas" on your motor trip, but you'll never run out of natural gas in your kitchen. Northern Natural Gas Company, the pipeline company who brings gas cross-country to your local gas company, has reserves estimated at 11.9 trillion cubic feet. Put more of the miracle fuel to work in your home and enjoy better living.

Beautiful Baby

A beautiful baby can become a queenly lady, if you start guarding a little girl's posture shortly after birth. Firmly support her back with one hand at all times. Correct shoes when she starts to toddle, and follow your doctor's advice.
