Reverend H. D. Keefe, pastor of the church, read the lines of the double ring ceremony in the presence of 165 guests.

Baskets of pink peonies and mock orange blossoms tied with pink satin bows with lighted white cathedral candles in two seven-branch candelabras appointed the altar. Lighting the tapers were Cheryl Toman, sister of the bridegroom, and James Bohl, brother of the bride.

A bouffant skirt of tulle was fashioned with an applied peplum of lace, falling in points and flowing over an under-skirt of ruffled tulle. Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was caught by a half-hat of lace studded with seed pearls and iridescent sequins. Her only jewelry was a pair of pearl earrings, a gift of the bridegroom. She carried a white orchid and lily of the valley on a white Bible.

Miss Deanna Hutton of this city was maid of honor gowned in a pink nylon lace over pink taffeta ballerina frock.
