County Purchases Of Savings Bonds $53.875 In June

Thrifty Cass County citizens purchased $53,875 in Series E and H Bonds during June, Walter H. Smith, County Savings Bond Chairman, says.

Smith in reporting sales for the first half of the year said they amounted to $440,582 which represents 60.9 per cent of the 1958 goal for the county.

Nebraska total sales for June amounted to $6,987,193, which was 14.85 per cent above the June, 1957, figure, according to State Chairman W. B. Millard Jr. of Omaha.

The sales covering the half-year mark reached $52,909,471, showing an increase of 20.06 per cent over the corresponding period of last year, for 64.5 per cent of the state quota of $82 million.

With sales running ahead of last year and the fine crop outlook throughout the state, Nebraska could be well on its way to being one of the leading states in the nation at the end of 1958 in per capita and total sales, Millard said.

Sneezing Disease Threat to Pigslet

The American Foundation for Animal Health urges farmers to be on guard against the hazard of atrophic rhinitis in young pigs, and to take steps to prevent it.

This sneezing disease of pigs is very prevalent in some areas and causes heavy economic losses. The exact cause has not been discovered and there is no known cure, but veterinarians have developed programs to keep the disease from getting a start on a farm and to bring it under control if it has gained a foothold.

One of the best precautionary steps, authorities say, is to purchase breeding stock only from disease-free herds. Other measures include separation of the sows before farrowing, and separation of sows and litters until weaning time and proper sanitation.

Atrophic rhinitis usually affects pigs between two and three weeks of age, but may not become evident until they are two or three months old.

Symptoms include sneezing, shaking of the head and rubbing the nose. If any of these symptoms appear they should call for a prompt checkup.

Donors to Red Cross At Louisville

Small boat accidents are responsible for some 1,400 water fatalities each year — or more than one-fifth of all annual drownings in this country.

These grim statistics were disclosed by Ed Mongeon, Red Cross director of safety services, in a statement giving suggestions for preventing boating accidents.

Mongeon points out that there are now 7,100,000 small recreational boats on American inland and coastal waterways, with an estimated 35 million devotees of the sport.

He said, "Outboard motor boats are greatly in the majority of small crafts. The great popularity of the sport and resulting accident hazards turn many a weekend pleasure cruise into tragedy."

Mongeon listed the following safety rules which can prevent most boating accidents:

1. Stay ashore in bad or threatening weather. Learn to recognize signs of storms so that, when out in a boat, you can return in time when bad weather threatens.
2. Don't "over-power" your boat. Many boats carry the Outboard Boating Club of America plate telling the maximum horsepower the boat's outboard motor should have. If your boat does not have such a plate, consult a reliable marine dealer for the information before buying your outboard motor.
3. Don't overload your boat. One adult passenger to a seat is considered a good rule of thumb.
4. Avoid sudden or excessive bursts of speed.
5. When in trouble, think — don't panic.

For the sake of boating safety, Mongeon also listed the following points:

1. Know how to swim.
2. Before leaving shore, tell someone where you're going, and then stick to this cruise plan.
3. Provide a life preserver for every passenger. Insist that non-swimmers wear a life preserver when in your boat.
4. Equip your motor boat also with oars, an anchor and line, a fire extinguisher, a first aid kit, a whistle for signaling, and if you go out at night, flares for signaling too.

"Most boats will float when swamped or capsized," Mongeon pointed out. "Boat owners should look to their boats as a safety device, and if it is floating after an accident, by all means stay with it."

The American Red Cross has special small craft safety courses which are offered to all at no charge in the interest of public safety. These courses cover recommended methods of small craft handling and "rules of the waterways." Boat owners are advised to contact their local information about the ARC Small Red Cross chapters for further Craft Program.
