EXCISE TAX PLAN UNLIKELY

The Treasury will not send to Congress next year a plan for a general manufacturer's excise tax. Nor is there any likelihood of such a plan being given serious consideration on the initiative of Congress itself.

This became clear in the wake of a series of trial balloons for the proposal by leading figures within the Administration.

MAJ. EISENHOWER IN JOB

Maj. John S. Eisenhower, the President's son, has taken up new White House duties as assistant to Brig. Gen. Andrew J. Goodpaster.

Mrs. Anne W. Wheaton, associate White House press secretary, said Major Eisenhower would help General Goodpaster, the President's staff secretary, on liaison activities connected with national security.

SAFETY DISPLAY ACCIDENT

Ridgefield, N. J. - The local Lions Club put a badly smashed auto on display recently along the highway as part of the group's "Slow Down and Live" campaign.

Two cars slowed down to have a look. A third didn't. The result was a three car collision. No one was hurt, but all three cars were damaged.

One of the drivers, Daniel Kelly, of North Bergen, is a member of a safety advisory committee. He was on his way home from Kentucky, where he had been arranging a similar "slow down and live" campaign, when the accident occurred.

Naturally the dumb stenographer didn't mail the circular letters. She couldn't find the round envelopes. — About Face, Norfolk, Va.

Germany MPs 'Keep Order' By Shepherding

HOHENFELS, Germany — The 20 men who make up the third platoon of Company B, 783rd Military Police Battalion here are faced with some of the most bizarre jobs that the Army has in Europe.

Stationed at isolated Hohenfels Training Area, 50 miles southeast of Nuernberg, the platoon maintains law and order on the 41,000 acres of the reservation and the 1500 square miles of Bavarian countryside that surround it.

"Maintaining law and order" consists of traffic control on 400 miles of reservation roads, security of the post, catching brass poachers and thieves, apprehending game poachers — and keeping sheep out of the range areas. The sheep have a habit of instantly becoming mutinous when the shells start falling.

Herders have been willing to take the risk, however, since the grass has become lush on the reservation where no animals are allowed to graze.

So MPs and the German Land Police cooperated to start "Operation Shepherd" rolling. A local farmer built an enclosure just off the post and the military police started bringing in the sheep. One night the policemen rounded up nearly 1000 in the range areas and drove them into the corral. At a cost of one deutschmark a day the herders have had to bail them out. Since the start of "Operation Shepherd" the patrolmen have netted about 3500 sheep. The number of herders willing to buy their sheep out of hook has decreased sharply.
