Decision on Vacating Road Pends

A decision on whether or not it will vacate a section line road a mile north and a mile west of Elmwood will be made by the Board of County Commissioners at their next meeting in two weeks.

An hour-long hearing was held on the proposed vacation Tuesday in the Commission room in the courthouse.

Objectors to the proposed vacation were represented by eight men and an attorney. They presented a petition signed by about 85 persons objecting to the vacation and asking the road be restored to driving condition.

The county surveyor had recommended that the road, between sections 9 and 4 in Stove Creek Precinct, be vacated. It has been unused for 52 years and is overgrown with brush and trees.

Restoration of the road would entail building a bridge, installing culverts, clearing of brush and trees and grading.

A question about the road had arisen when Vic Schomaker asked for a way into an 80-acre plot of ground he intends to farm. There was no other means of ingress except across private land.

Subsequently, the Commissioners purchased a strip of ground amounting to 97-hundredths of an acre from Howard Vogt and Mrs. Grover Hill.

It cost about $870. An estimated mentioned at the hearing for restoring the mile of section line road was between $15,000 and $20,000.

Statute requires that the board wait until the subsequent meeting before announcing a decision on the matter.

Nehawka Residents Visit Commissioners

A delegation of residents of north of Nehawka were here Tuesday to interview the board of county commissioners in regard to road conditions in their locality.

The road they are seeking to have improved made is on the rural mail route, as well as the school bus serving Nehawka schools. They pointed out the need for widening and bettering the surface of the road.

In the delegation were Alvin McReynolds, William Brandt, Herman Smith and later joined by Robert Schlichtemeier.

School Custodian Has Accident, Is Hospital Patient

F. W. Herger is recuperating in St. Joseph's Hospital after having undergone surgery Wednesday morning.

Mr. Herger, custodian at Columbian schools, was attempting to patch some plaster in the old building when the ladder on which he was standing fell. He suffered a broken arm at the elbow. After x-ray, it was discovered he would have to undergo surgery on the elbow.

Mr. Herger is in Room 208 and would appreciate hearing from his friends.

Visitations Feature of Ed-Week Here

The Plattsmouth City Schools will be one of the thousands of schools throughout the United States which are recognizing the 38th annual observance of American Education Week which begins Sunday, Nov. 9, and runs throughout the week.

This national movement, in the areas of the elementary and secondary education, originated 37 years ago in the minds of the American Legion and is now co-sponsored by the National Education Association, the United States Office of Education and the National Congress of Parents and Teachers.

The general theme this year is "Report Card U. S. A."

Sunday, Nov. 9 - Report Card: Character Building.

Monday, Nov. 10 - Report Card: Responsible Citizenship.

Tuesday, Nov. 11 - Report Card: Education and Survival.

Wednesday, Nov. 12 - Report Card: The Curriculum.

Thursday, Nov. 13 - Report Card: The Teacher (National Teachers Day).

Friday, Nov. 14 - Report Card: Developing Talents.

Saturday, Nov. 15 - Report Card: Community Teamwork.

Open House or visitation in all of the schools will be observed. All teachers will be in their respective classrooms during this time and will be looking forward to meeting all parents, patrons and other interested people. This will afford everyone an opportunity to see the facilities in the buildings and to become better acquainted with the teachers.

School Visitation, which has become a traditional feature of American Education Week, will provide splendid opportunities for acquainting parents with the everyday work of the schools and for developing closer home and school partnership.

The following visitation periods have been set up by the Superintendent and the School Principals—

Columbian School — Tuesday afternoon, Nov. 11, 2:30 to 4 p.m. Morning kindergarten, 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Wintersteen School: — Wednesday morning, Nov. 12, 9:30 to 11 a.m.

Central School — Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 12, 2:30 to 4 p.m. Morning kindergarten, 10 to 11:30 a.m.

Junior High School — Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 12, 2:30 to 4 p.m.

First Ward School — Thursday afternoon, Nov. 13, 2:30 to 4 p.m. Morning kindergarten, 10 to 11:30 a.m.

High School — Thursday evening Nov. 13, 7 to 9 p.m. (First, Third and Fifth Period Classes) 9 to 9:45 p.m., Coffee and cookies.

Junior High School — Wednesday afternoon from 2:30 to 4 p.m., Nov. 12. Science Classes: Mr. Prasek, 7th grade and Mrs. McLean, 8th grade. Social Studies classes: Mrs. Albert, 7th grade and Miss Colby, 8th grade. Mathematics classes: Miss Owen, 7th grade and Mrs. Seward, 8th grade.

Parents - Teacher Conferences from 3:15 p.m. on.

Bulletins relative to the Open House and Visitation in each particular school building and department are being sent home with the children. It is hoped that parents and patrons of the schools will find it convenient to visit the school of their special interest during the coming week.

ARMY SPACE TEAM BATTLE

Two Army generals have warned strongly against the break-up of the Army's team of missile and space scientists.

Generals Arthur G. Trudeau and John B. Medaris also joined with civilian members of the association of the United States Army in voting a series of resolutions supporting various Army objectives. These included the Army's role in space, its need for more men and planes and other programs to build fighting power.

11 PHS Seniors In Last Game; Konfrst Out

Eleven seniors, but not ace fullback John Konfrst, will wear Plattsmouth High School football uniforms for the last time Friday night in the Homecoming game here.

And, it's a real toughie for the senior Blue Devils to play as a career-ender.

Auburn brings in a perfect 1958 record and has had nothing but respect and success on the football field this year. It has won 7 straight games, is ranked near the top in Class B in the state.

But, Coach Bill Hawkins of Plattsmouth isn't crepe hanging. He says, "We'll be ready for them."

He wasn't belittling Auburn, which he feels is a "good ball club" but he says "they can be stopped and we know pretty much what they'll run."

Plattsmouth is fresh from one of its best performances of the season last week, a 25-12 win over Fairbury.

Seniors who will perform for the last time for Plattsmouth Friday night are tackles Ed Hohman, Ken Pritchard and Ron Toman, ends J. C. Draper, Rich Kellison and Jim Bullin, guards Jerry Haase and Jerry Wurtele, fullback Lauren Todd, halfback Tom Winscot and quarterback Ray Ford.

Konfrst, first string fullback for two years, missed last week's game with a severe leg infection and was taken to Doctors Hospital, Omaha.

Todd filled in ably last week and will be called upon again this time. He has been a defensive star two years but performed just as well on offense against Fairbury.

All the seniors on the squad will be co-captains for the season's last game.

Plattsmouth goes into the game with a record of three wins, three losses and a tie.

Against common opponents, the two teams have fared this way:

Auburn beat Nebraska City, 25-0; Plattsmouth lost, 18-12.

Auburn beat Falls City, 29-8; Plattsmouth lost 41-19.

The kickoff Friday night is at 7:30. Homecoming festivities, including crowning of the queen and king and a dance, follow the game at the high school gym.

"Farewell" Local Date Is Set

The long wait for a CinemaScope, De Luxe Color screen version of Ernest Hemingway's immortal classic of war and love, "A Farewell to Arms," will be realized Sunday-Wednesday at the Cass Theater when David O. Selznick's production starring Rock Hudson, Jennifer Jones and Vittorio De Sica is premiered.

Shot entirely in Italy, the film features a huge case of internationally famous feature and supporting players as well as over 10,000 extras, most of whom are used in the excitingly staged battle scenes.

Often called Hemingway's finest novel, the story of the difficult love of an American ambulance driver serving in the Italian Army and a lovely British nurse has been re-created with the unique touch of Producer Selznick and ace director Charles Vidor.

In addition to the monumental dramatic problems concerned with translating a Hemingway story faithfully and accurately to the screen, the Selznick "army" had to transport tons of props and machinery high into the Dolomite Mountains of Northern Italy where the authentic battle scenes were photographed upon the very ground over which the original conflict was fought.

Preview audiences acclaimed the film one of the finest yet produced, even by Selznick who has such pictures as "Spellbound," "David Copperfield" and of course, the all-time great, "Gone With the Wind" to his credit.—Adv.

Burning Sacks On Highway Calls Out Firefighters

Early Wednesday morning a large number of sacks used to protect new concrete paving on the U. S. 73-75 bypass west of the city was reported on fire by a passerby who came to town and reported.

Chief Joe Kruntorad, Leo Hohman and Ray Herring who were still up and listening to election returns hurried to the scene of action with one of the fire trucks and soon had the fire out without making a general alarm.

The fire was confined to the pile of sacks on the highway and did not spread to adjoining bone-dry fields.
