Death Of Former Resident Occurs

Funeral services were held this afternoon at Glenwood, Ia., for Louis Bomer, a former resident of Plattsmouth, who passed away Friday at his home in the Iowa City. Sketch Of Life Of James M. Matney Of This City

James Matheson Matney, son of Samuel and Demarius Matney, was born January 14, 1882 at Decatur, Nebr., and died at Omaha on November 3, 1958. He spent his boyhood at Decatur but attended the School for the Deaf in Omaha where he met Mary Brehm. They were married at Grand Island on January 14, 1920.

To this union 5 children were born: Winifred, Ralph, June Maxine, George and Elizabeth Ann. The young couple made their home in Onawa, Ia., for twenty years coming to Plattsmouth in 1945.

Mr. Matney was a painter and decorator by trade but at one time ran a theater and also operated a ferry on the Missouri River. He was a great lover of the river and sports, played a great deal of baseball and when he became older was an umpire of the national pastime. He came by his love for baseball naturally because he was a relative of Pepper Martin, well known St. Louis ballplayer of World Series fame.

He is survived by his wife and the five children: Mrs. Glen Larson of Plattsmouth, Ralph J. Matney of Omaha, Miss June Maxine Matney of Moline, Ill., George Matney of Kansas City, Kans., and Mrs. Donald Homan of New Albany, Ind., and seventeen grandchildren and one great grandchild.

Mr. and Mrs. Matney joined the Methodist Church in Onawa, Ia., and their children attended the Plattsmouth Methodist Church.

Mr. Matney was a kindly man of jovial disposition and after his wife began to lose her sight he took over the care of their home. When he could no longer participate in his outdoor interests, he made his interest cooking at which he became quite proficient.

The determination of Mr. and Mrs. Matney to lead as near normal lives as possible in spite of their afflictions is reflected in their fine family and the admiration with which they are held by friends in this community who knew them. The love and sympathy of the friends is extended to his wife who so needed him and to their children who held their parents in such high esteem.

The Murray fire department answered the fire alarm first and called the Plattsmouth department.

Cass County Deputy Sheriff Wayne Schneider and a highway patrolman answered the accident call and Schneider radioed for doctors and ambulances.

When the two volunteer fire departments saw they couldn't control the blaze with water, they used the radio of veterinarian Dr. Gordon Wasson, Plattsmouth, to call Offutt Air Force Base and Bellevue for help.

Both sent cans of "foam" which were used to control the gasoline blaze.

The accident occurred about 3:30 p.m.

By the time assistance arrived for the Murray firemen, the corn crib was collapsing around the blazing truck and a power line pole was burning along with the entire proximity of the truck.

Consumers Public Power cut the power on the lines atop the pole because of the danger to firefighters and bystanders.

Soon afterward, the cross arms atop the pole burned through dropping 33,000-volt lines onto the lower 7,200-volt lines. Two-thirds of the top of the pole were burned up.

Murray, Union and Nehawka were without power for about three hours until repairs were made. Sunday Consumers set a new pole at the corner.

The fire in the corn crib, corn and a pile of cobs continued to burn until 5:30.

A double funeral for the Murray ladies will be Tuesday at 2:30 at the Christian Church, Murray.

--Manley

Schneider said the accident occurred at the intersection of State Highway 1 and 50 north of Manley.

Rolphs was going south and turning off Highway 50 to go to Manley when the other car which was following ran up onto the Rolphs car.

The two cars continued on in that position after the terrific impact a distance of 132 feet before stopping in a ditch, Schneider said.

He said witnesses said the Toomey car had pulled over to the left hand lane as if to pass before hitting the other car which went into the left lane to turn.

Sarpy County To Have Enlarged County Board

Sarpy County voted Tuesday to increase membership on the board of county commissioners from three to five. The plan carried by a vote of 2,973 to 1,615.

It has been urged by the advocates of the larger board that the eastern part of the county should have fairer representation on the board. They pointed out that two-thirds of the county residents (those living east of 36th street) are now represented by only one commissioner and he resides west of 36th street.

The present board of commissioners must re-divide the county into five districts instead of three. It is expected that the change will be made before the first of the year.
