Louisville Man Celebrates 90th Birthday Nov. 6

BOURNVILLE (Special) - Jacob Reichart, lifetime resident of Cass County celebrated his 90th birthday Nov. 6, at his home in Louisville. To observe the event, a six o'clock turkey dinner was enjoyed and attended by his immediate family.

Reichart, son of George and Catherine Reichart, was born Nov. 6, 1868 at Culom. When he was several years old he, with his parents, moved to Louisville where he has resided ever since.

As a young boy he learned the trade of stone masonry. He did the masonry work of many of the beautiful sandstone homes and buildings in Cass County.

He was married Nov. 22, 1895 to Mary Hanna (a direct descendant of John and Elizabeth Sherburne who settled at Portsmouth, New Hampshire in 1645). Mrs. Reichart, a native of Shellrock, Iowa, died June 2, 1940.

Reichart's five children all reside in Louisville. They are Mrs. William Wirth, Mrs. J. E. Lisle, George, Fred and Marion. He also has three granddaughters, three grandsons, and seven great grandchildren.

Although he has not been in good health the last few months, Jake, as he is known to everyone, still goes downtown every morning for a few hours to visit his many friends.

The closing consisted of the whole pack forming a "living circle."

Display-Den 1 made crystal plants, carved pumpkins, paper bag masks, pirate ships and made nut cups and place mat. Mrs. Ahrens assisted Mrs. Kalasek this month; also hiked to Ferry Glen.

Den 2 made pirate scarves, eye patches, and waist sashes to be used for trick or treats. Also, each boy whittled a knife and dagger.

Den 3 made folklore puppets and Jack-O-Lanterns.

Den 4 made Halloween cat napkin holders, gourds painted and dressed like witches, paper masks and apple seed bags.

Den 5 carved wooden knives, made folklore scrapbooks, carved pumpkins and held a weller roast at Ferry Glen.

Den 8 painted gourds and made black cats, bat masks, balloon ghosts and folklore dolls out of pop bottles.

The Thursday docket of police court was confined to two filings. Paul Ash, claiming to be a resident of Washington, D. C., was charged with intoxication. The defendant was without funds, and hitchhiking to Kansas City, Mo., and accordingly Judge J. H. Graves imposed a fine of $10 and costs, suspending the same on the promise of the defendant to hire himself to more southerly climes.

The other filing was charge of failing to bring a motor vehicle to a complete stop when passing a school stop sign. The offender was Charles Zimmerman of Nebraska City who is to appear here Friday.
