

Cold and Warm Fronts

As winter steadily approaches — it will arrive this year on December 21st at 3:40 a.m. — it is interesting to study the effects and characteristics of cold fronts, which will appear ever more frequently from now until the end of winter. To many of us, the term "cold front" means very little. Yet it is a simple weather movement.

The cold front, as experienced on this continent, practically always moves from northwest in an eastward direction. In the United States it usually originates in the Polar areas or in northern Canada and moves down over Canada and into the United States.

The thing to remember about a cold front, when you read that one is coming, is that the weather disturbance occurring as it passes in and over, above, will probably be short. That does not mean the weather will not be cold for several days, but only means that precipitation, wind and stormy weather will probably be relatively brief.

This is because a cold front moves faster across the country than a warm front, and because the front itself usually is not as broad as a warm front. Thus it is not unusual for a cold front to pass in, with a few blustery rain squalls with wind, and produce clear weather in a matter of hours.

An interesting fact to remember about cold fronts is that the leading edge, or nose, hugs the earth as it moves from west to east. The exact opposite is true about a warm front.

Down Memory Lane

20 YEARS AGO Wedding bells rang in Eden Valley Lutheran church near Creighton for Miss Marie Speck of this city, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Speck and Earl W. Bergland of Creighton. Rev. Fenske, pastor of the church, read the marriage lines. The bride entered on the arm of the groom and wore a street length gown of royal blue transparent velvet she carried a lace handkerchief which her mother and grandmother, Mrs. W. A. Becker had carried at their wedding. Miss Phyllis Jane Speck was bridesmaid for her sister. Donald Burcham of this city served as best man. Wedding dinner was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Lorenz. Attending the wedding

30 YEARS AGO

Plattsmouth High School and Nebraska City high closed the football season of 1928 with a scoreless tie at Nebraska City. The game was played in a snow storm that wiped out all lines on the field, made the football slippery. The Platters found gains in yardage around end, as the ground became more of a mire, the gains were hard to hold. In the last quarter Nebraska City advanced into local territory, fumbling there, the Platters punted out and were no longer in danger. Gilbert Hinz at tackle was outstanding for the blue and white — Funeral services were held here for John Cory, resident of Plattsmouth since the early seventies, at the First Methodist church. Rev. H. E. Sorter conducted the service with Mrs. E. G. Shellenbarger and Mrs. Harry Schultz singing three of the old hymns requested by the Mr. Cory in his lifetime. The IOOF lodge conducted the services at the graveside. Mr. Cory was for many years in the employment of the Burlington in the store department of the shops. He served as a member of the police force and later with the wife was engaged in the restaurant business and later operated the Hotel Perkins for many years. Survivors are four daughters, Mrs. M. E. Brantner, Mrs. Garnet Oschlagher, Mrs. Florence Coleman of this city, Mrs. Frances Schultz of Omaha, one daughter, Bessie, preceded him in death in infancy.
