This 'n That In Agriculture

The Nebraska Farm Business Record Book is gaining in popularity. The farm account book, too, is available at the County Extension Office. Why not stop in and look it over. It's inexpensive and adapted well to the 1940 Income Tax form.

How much does it cost to produce an acre of corn. A farm business analysis work shop was held Jan. 9 at the County Extension Office. It was not determined what the costs are for an acre of corn, but on one of the farms the machinery costs for an acre of crop land amounted to a little over $18 in 1958. As has been stated before, farm records have more value than just a record of expenditures and receipts. They also afford a way to measure farm management. Good farm management will be the difference between success and failure in the years ahead in farming.

Windbreak trees are still available. In fact, the orders to date have been slow. If anyone is interested in planting a new windbreak or adding to an old windbreak, now is the time to make your plans. Clarke McNary seedling trees are available through the Extension Office.—Clarence Schmadeke, County Agent.
