Hybrid Pike Caught In State Lake

BASSETT — What appears to be the first authenticated record of a northern pike-grass pickerel hybrid was reported by Bruce McCarragher, Game Commission district supervisor of fisheries here.

The cross, with the size of a northern and the looks of a pickerel, was caught by Harlon Story of Plainview in Watts Lake on the Valentine National Wildlife Refuge. Story was ice fishing and was using a minnow for bait.

McCarragher based his findings on lateral line scale count, ray count on the various fins and color patterning, among other things. Grass pickerel are under a foot in length, but this hybrid was 18 and two-thirds inches long and weighed 2 and nine-tenths pounds.
