1799 Book Oldest at Louisville

LOUISVILLE (Special) —The oldest book brought in for the competition for National Library Week here was a big Bible printed in English in Philadelphia by Thomas Dodson in 1799. It bears and inscription presenting it to Precilla Noyes, grandmother of Mrs. Doris Hirsch.

Two German Bibles were brought in. One with clasps, loaned by Miss Grace Hoover, printed in Stuttgart in the 1820's bears the name of Hubert inside the front cover and purports to be the thirteenth printing of Dr. Martin Luther's translation.

The second old German Bible regrettably lacks its front cover and a few initials pages but it seems to have been printed in 1853. It was brought to America from Germany by the father of Jake Reichart and was brought to the library by Mrs. Bill Myers.

Mrs. Marion Biggs, Sr., sent in a large old Bible printed in Auburn or Rochester with a family legend attached. This bible evidently belonged to a Confederate Steamer and was taken by a slave escaping as the steamer was fired by the Union soldiers during the Civil War.

A "Kirchen-Gesambuch" for Evangelical Lutherans under the Augsburg Confession, printed in St. Louis in 1888 had a leather cover embossed with the name Edward Worthman, 1889, was sent in by Mrs. Hattie Worthman.

A hand-sized Methodist Hymn book, carried to church by a Pennsylvania Dutch ancestor of Mrs. Clarence Crawford lacks its front cover and all pages up to page 5. To establish the approximate dates of its printing was an interesting challenge and required considerable research. On page 5 there is a list of six Methodist bishops elected in the years of 1808-1832.

The old school books brought in were examined with interest by youngsters. Among these were several McGuffey Readers for the earlier grades, and some in original printings and some in the revised readers. There was an Osgood Reader, fourth grade. Does anyone know when or where this reader was in vogue? The owner would like to know.

There were Appleton Readers, which Mrs. Bedella Stander says she used in Weeping Water when she was in school there. The Progressive series and other

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Tennant attended the funeral of Mr. Tennant's cousin at Shubert Sunday afternoon.

Saturday evening supper guests of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Radenslaben were Mr. and Mrs. Ferdie Radenslaben, Charles Radenslaben and Connie Norris.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Witt of Syracuse are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woltzel.

Sunday afternoon and lunch guests of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hurlbut were Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Hurlbut and family of Lincoln.

Saturday evening visitors of Mr. and Mrs. George Carter were Mrs. J. S. Ferrier and Mrs. Marge Schultz of Ashland.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Bulling and son returned to their home in Lincoln after spending 10 days at the C. W. Osburn home after Mrs. Bulling left the hospital. Monday morning callers on Mrs. Emma Appuhn were Mr. and Mrs. Paul Renwan of Rousville, Kan.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Welch and son returned to Columbus, O., Sunday morning after spending Mr. Welch's leave visiting relatives. Tuesday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Carter were Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Carter and family of Omaha.

Callers on Mr. and Mrs. Walter Woltzel Friday were Mr. and Mrs. Robert Graham and Mrs. John Graham. Mrs. D. E. Buckingham and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Buckingham and son of Lincoln were Sunday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. D. Buckingham of Omaha. They all called on Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Bergers and family that afternoon.

Sunday afternoon visitor with Mr. and Mrs. George Carter was Mr. Carter's nephew, Lewis Carter of Springfield.

Mrs. Turley Wall entered four children's dresses in the style show at the Grange Hall at Waverly Wednesday. The style show was sponsored by the Grange.

Saturday dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ken Carpenter were Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Maikie and Jim of Alma, Kan., and Mr. and Mrs. Gus Brakhaage. Mr. and Mrs. Brakhaage accompanied their niece, Mrs. Maikie, to their home for a couple weeks visit.

Brian Hammer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jake Hammer is having a siege of red measles.

readers, spellers, arithmetics, song books, fiction, histories, physiologies, agriculture — no geographies — primers (one in German), catechisms, books of devotions came in and were eagerly examined where they were displayed.

An old family album, with tintypes, and her mothers autograph book, brought in by Mrs. Amy Dunn proved interesting to children and adults alike. A copy of Nebraska Wesleyan's "Coyote" for 1908 contained a story written by Harry Palmer. History and Financial Resources of Louisville printed in 1902, brought in by Mrs. Bill Meyers should be emulated.

The newest of the old books was an Italian-English dictionary brought home from Italy by Marion Biggs when he returned after World War II.

Much thumbed was Mrs. Ackles remarkable scrap book of World War II happenings that immediately touched the Louisville community. A scrap book belonging to Mildred Heier would be of special interest to persons interested in writers current to the book.

Three Civil War letters written by the grandparents of Mrs. Clarence Stohmann to each other before they were married are precious for their age and their sentiment.

Other people who kindly loaned books that were examined by many visitors were Glen Miller,

CORN CHAMP — Heinrich Klipp of South Ashland, was named county corn growing champion at a banquet held recently in York where other corn growing champions were honored. His yield of 84.62 bushels per acre topped Cass County in the dryland division of the 1958 National Selected Five Acre DeKalb Corn Growing Contest.

Mrs. Lloyd Group, Marilyn Keckler, Clarence Ackles, Mrs. Engelkenier, the Mayfield boys, Mrs. Genevieve Funke, Mrs. Elsie Duerr and Mrs. Ruth Huffman.

A prize of $5 was awarded to the owner of the oldest book. The register was signed by 154 guests at the library during the week.

Guests from out of town for the Sunday afternoon program were Mmes. Shepler, Smith, Mezger and Armstrong all of Springfield.

A new flag is on display at the Library. It is one with 49 stars and was the gift of Arthur Palmer of Long Beach, Calif.

April, the month that ushers in warmth and sunshine, has been regarded as a favorable time for beginning wars. The World Book Encyclopedia reveals that the start of the American Revolutionary War, the Mexican War and the War between the States and the entrance of the United States into World War I occurred in April.

What Can A Pencil Prove About Quality in BEER?

There's no surer test of a beer's quality than this: Have your bartender draw a glass of Country Club Pilsener. Then—place a clean pencil down through the foam and rest it on the bottom. The head on your glass of Country Club will hold that pencil standing straight!

Here's proof of Country Club's creamy, rich head—which in turn is proof of the smooth body and robust satisfaction you'll find in Country Club Pilsener.
