Bike Riders: Obeying Laws Is Important

CHICAGO — Most bike riders in accidents with motor vehicles are violating traffic laws. "In four out of five accidents, the bicycle rider is violating a law," the National Safety Council asserts. The fact was one of many obtained from a Council study of the circumstances of bike accidents in the United States. Forty-two states took part in the study, and provided this information:

1. Between 400-500 bike riders are killed each year in accidents with motor vehicles. More than 25,000 bike riders suffer disabling injuries.

2. More than eight out of 10 victims are under 16 years of age.

3. Nearly nine out of 10 are males.

When do bike accidents happen?

1. Seven out of 10 occur during April-September.

2. Seven out of 10 occur during daylight hours.

3. They occur most often on Saturday, least often on Sunday.

Strangely enough, the Council pointed out, in one accident in three the bicyclist struck the motor vehicle.

The 42 states taking part in the study rejected almost unanimously a proposal that bicyclists ride on the left side of the street facing traffic.

The states surveyed favor bicyclists riding on the right side, and following all rules and regulations pertaining to other vehicles.

Riding on the left side of the street, the study indicated, is more hazardous than riding on the right side.

What suggestions does the Council have to keep bike riders safe?

1. Obey traffic laws — traffic lights and signs are for bike riders, too.

2. Stay on the right. Ride with traffic.
3. Ride single file. Never zig-zag.
4. Make sure your bike's in good condition.
5. When traffic is heavy at a corner, get off and push your bike across the street. Stay within the crosswalks.
6. Don't ride your bike at night unless you have to. And then, make sure your bike has a light rear reflector. Wear clothing that is light colored or that shines in the dark so you can be seen easily by motorists.
